RUSSIAN 'VOLUNTEERS' IN SYRIA

Humphrey May Quit Cabinet for National Steel

WASHINGTON (UP) — Treasury Secretary George H. Humphrey hinted strongly today that he intends to resign soon from President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Rumors of Humphrey's possible resignation have been increasing since shortly after the first of the year when he invited Congress to make drastic cuts in the President's $71,800,000,000 budget for fiscal 1958.

Previously, Humphrey has denied such reports or remained silent.

Today he issued a statement to answer published reports that he will become board chairman of the National Steel Corp. at Pittsburgh. He said:

"It is well known," he said, "that I have been in the cabinet much longer than I originally planned. But as long as I am secretary of the Treasury, I will have no other interest.

"When the time comes for my resignation, it will be presented first to the President."

The secretary's aides interpreted the statement for newsmen to mean that Humphrey expects to quit his government post "in the not too distant future." A surmise was that the resignation might come this summer after Congress approves the administration's budget for fiscal 1958.

Successors Rumored

There have been reports that Humphrey, should he resign, would be replaced by Undersecretary W. Randolph Burgess. The Scripps-Howard newspapers, quoting "reports from financial circles," said he will be succeeded by Robert B. Anderson of New York, former deputy secretary of defense.

Humphrey's statement was the strongest he has made to date indicating his plans to quit the cabinet. When he became Treasury secretary on Jan. 21, 1953 it was well known that he intended to stay only two years.

However, Humphrey proved himself invaluable to Eisenhower on financial matters and was persuaded to stay in his job far beyond his original plans.

The Humphrey statement was issued to answer reports from Pittsburgh that he would succeed Ernest Weir, 81, as chairman of National Steel. Before becoming Treasury secretary, Humphrey headed the executive committee of National Steel. He had helped organize the corporation in 1929.

He also was president of M. A. Hanna & Co., Inc., at Cleveland, and was an officer in a large number of some of the nation's largest corporations.

PITTSBURGH STEEL CO. EXECUTIVES — Carl R. Breuer, right, will become vice president-operations of Pittsburgh Steel Co. on May 1, and Joseph R. Carter will take over the duties of assistant vice president-operations on June 1. They are shown in Breuer's office in the company's Monessen plant.

Four Slightly Hurt in Crash On Webster Rd.

Four persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision yesterday afternoon at 4:15 on the Monessen-Webster Rd., Rt. 906.

Two of the persons narrowly escaped serious injury when the car in which they were riding landed on the railroad tracks as a result of the mishap.

According to police, a car operated by Homer Hammers, 20, of Webster, was traveling towards Webster near Boyd's Hollow when it skidded on the highway, went out of control and crashed into a car traveling in the opposite direction and driven by Charles Holet, of 323 Market St., Belle Vernon.

The Hammers car bounced off the Holet machine onto the railroad tracks.

Hammers and a companion Richard Mackey, 21, also of Webster, suffered only minor injuries. They were treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and released.

Holet escaped uninjured, but two passengers in his car were slightly injured. Mrs. Dorothy Jozwiak, of 40 Scenery Blvd., Monessen, suffered a bruised hand and knees, and Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, of 7 Anderson Ct., Monessen, received bruised knees. They ere treated by local physicians.

Damage was estimated at $1 400

Trailer-truck Overturns on Another Vehicle

A huge trailer-truck loaded with cases of beer caps overturned on another vehicle on Rt 711 near Vesely's corners about 11:40 last night, State Police reported today.

The truck driven by John Trapp, of Bolivia, Ohio, was coming down Nash Hill on Rt 711 when it failed to make a turn. The truck over-turned onto a vehicle operated by R. Taylor Mosier, Vanderbilt.

Mosier escaped with a slight laceration of the forehead Trapp, it was said, was not hurt.

The cases of beer caps were strewn about the highway.

Transport Workers To Strike PRR

NEW YORK (UP)—The Transport Workers Union announced today that some 20,000 members will go on strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from New York to St. Louis at 12:01 a.m., Tuesday, April 30.

Michael J. Quill, international president of the TWU, said the 52 TWU locals throughout the railroad's system had voted overwhelmingly for the strike action.

TWU members perform inspection and maintenance work in shops, yards and depots. The union has charged the railroad violated its contract by assigning work properly belonging to TWU members to members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.).

Police Investigate Brownsville Death

Police today are investigating the death of 31-year-old James Rozgonyi Rogers whose body was found yesterday near the Monongahela Railway bridge at Century near Brownsville.

Police said Rogrs had a half-moon wound on his left temple, which may have resulted from a blow on the head or from a fall from the bridge.

New Operations Bosses at Pittsburgh Steel Are Young

Two of the top men on Pittsburgh Steel Company's "young executive team" are Carl A. Breuer and Joseph R. Carter.

Breuer, at 45, will be vice president-operations effective May 1. At present, he is general manager of operations.

Carter, 38, who is in charge of operations at Johnson Steel & Wire Co., a Pittsburgh Steel subsidiary in Worcester, Mass., will become assistant to the vice-president-operations effective June 1.

Both men will have their headquarters at the company's Monessen office on 12th St.

In a joint interview, Breuer and Carter both expressed confidence in the future plans for the growth of Pittsburgh Steel.

Breuer said no change from the current "progressive policies" of the company is anticipated and further stated that Pittsburgh Steel and Monessen have made amazing strides since he first came to Monessen in 1938. In speaking of the community, he said,

'City Progressing'

"The City of Monessen, like Pittsburgh Steel, is progressing in the right direction. I have seen Monessen build up tremendously since I came here. The wonderful community spirit and capable leadership would be a credit to any community. The City in general is progressing in every way."

Carter, who has been a frequent visitor to Monessen, said he has been following the progress of Pittsburgh Steel and Monessen. Both, he stated, have made "excellent strides".

They both agreed that what "benefits Pittsburgh Steel benefits Monessen and its residents.

Breuer said, "This works in reverse, too."

With their new positions, Breuer and Carter are part of one of the most remarkably youthful executive echelons in the entire steel industry.

The firm's president, Allison R. Maxwell, Jr., himself is 41 years old. His close associates in the top management are in the 40-45 bracket.

However, what Breuer and Carter may lack in age in comparison to older steel executives, they make up for in backgrounds of solid training and experience.

Take Breuer, for instance. He has been in the steel industry since graduating from Carnegie Tech in 1933. After three years with American Rolling Mills Co. (now Armco

Fayette County Jail Probe Is Ordered by Court

The Fayette County Court of quarter sessions yesterday ordered an investigation into the management and conduct of the County jail and prisons by the warden keepers and turnkeys.

The special probe is to be conducted to inquire whether Warden Jack L. Cochrane, keepers and turnkeys have been guilty of any unlawful extortions, partiality, or other abuses or misconduct in office.

In the court order signed by Judge Eustace H. Bane, Attys. Robert Hagan and Daniel McDonald, Jr., have been appointed to carry out the investigation and examination.

The order further states that the warden, keepers and turnkeys be called before the court and subpoenas issued for the purpose of the investigation.

The court-ordered probe is the result of a petition being filed by Wendell C. Ford, 40, Mifflin Ave., Uniontown, who alleges Warden Cochrane exacted or extorted the sum of $30 in connection with Ford's recent release from county jail.

Accusations of a bail-bond racket operating in the county jail have been hurled in recent weeks and ill also be probed.

Donora Man to Face Charge of Stealing Mail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)— A federal prosecutor said today that Edgar Mitchell, Donora, has admitted stealing 15 sacks of air mail from the Cleveland Hopkins Airport where he formerly was employed.

Asst. U.S. Atty. George Morrison said Mitchell has indicated he will plead guilty to mail theft charges and has asked that his case be transferred from Cleveland to Pittsburgh federal court.

The federal attorney said Mitchell, while working as a ramp attendant at the airport, took the bags of mail, opened the letters and then destroyed all the evidence except the locks and tags from the bags.

The tags and locks led to his arrest. He quit his job with United Airlines Jan. 12 and returned to Donora. On March 12, police stopped him for a traffic violation and found the tags and locks in his automobile.

Morrison said Mitchell told him he got about $2,500 from the letters. Mitchell is free on $1 000 bond pending disposition of the charges.

No Inquiry into County Jail Death Planned

There will be no investigation into the death of a Westmoreland County Jail prisoner who died this week nearly 48 hours after being tear-gassed.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yonev's report said that Walter Bashioun 48, of Mt. Pleasant, R.D., died at 6 a. m. Wednesday of a cerebral hemorrnage.

Bashioun had bee placed in jail last Saturday for non-support of two divorced wives and their children.

According to Warden William Hohn, tear gas had been used to subdue Bashioun on two occasions Monday morning after he had become violent.

That same night, Hohn said, Bashioun became ill and was transferred to the hospital at the county home. He died the next morning.

Leader Warns He Will Fight for His Program

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader warned today he would "fight alone" if he could not gather support for his administration program tied up in committees of the Republican-controlled General Assembly.

The governor, in a speech at the dedication of a new 16-story office building in Gateway Center, said the Commonwealth was operating under an "inflexible" 83-year-old State Constitution, an antiquated personnel system and a budget and revenue structure "which successive Legislatures fear to bring into honest balance."

"I have resolved that in my four years—and this resolution has grown as each day has passed—that I am going to fight the politicians in any party who have declared a vested interest in these wrongs," he said. "If I have to, I will fight alone but I would, humanly, prefer a little company."

The governor said the Legislature should match "this modern building" with extension of civil service in state government and a modern Constitution.

"These proposals, and many more constructive measures, have been introduced by this administration into the Legislature," he said. "Their fate at this moment is in the hands of a few men, six to a dozen men, who are the Republican powers in the Legislature.

"But more truly, their fate is in the hands of the people of our Commonwealth. Even the Old Guard at Harrisburg will listen to the people if the voices are loud, clear and persistent."

Earlier today in Harrisburg the governor met in special session with his cabinet to plan his fight for a comprehensive college scholarship program.

Ready to Act Against Jordan; U.S. Fleet Is Just 'Calming' Influence

U.S. Hopes to Avert Conflict

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today staged a show of military and diplomatic force in hopes of averting a major conflict in Jordan that could draw this country into a mideast war.

As the powerful U.S. 6th Fleet steamed under secret orders toward the eastern Mediterranean, urgent diplomatic warnings were sent to Israel and Arab countries not to capitalize on Jordan's internal throes.

Long-standing American fears that Jordan's neighbors might try to carve up the tiny Mideast kingdom in event of its internal breakup were revived by the Jordan government crisis and maneuverings of Syria, Egypt and other Mideast nations.

Fleet "Calming" Influence

Although the 6th Fleet is one of the most powerful afloat, equipped with ultra-modern weapons and presumably atomic arms, its movement does not imply U.S. armed involvement in the Mideast. Rather, officials said, it is being sent as a "calming" influence and to evacuate U.S. citizens from the area if necessary.

Leaders of Congress were placed on stand-by notice that they would be summoned quickly if the Jordan situation worsened. Democrats and Republicans who conferred with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the State Department Thursday, or by telephone at their homes, were told there is "no alarm as of now" that large-scale fighting will break out in the Mideast.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) who met with Dulles Thursday, said congressional leaders probably will meet early next week with administration officials unless there is need for an emergency meeting before then. Congress is due to return from its Easter recess Monday.

Radford Leaves For Tour

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, left on a three-week flying tour of Latin America Thursday night saying as he departed, "Normally I would not leave if things were very, very serious."

But Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), the acting Senate Democratic leader, said in a grave and carefully-worded statement that events are "building up to a showdown in Jordan" and "it is quite possible that this country will become involved if events are not brought under control."

"... All the ingredients of a major war are incorporated into the Middle East area," he said.

JORDAN'S NEWEST — New Premier in the fast-changing Jordan crisis is Ibrahim Hashem (above), who heads a pro-Hussein, pro-west cabinet. Hashem ordered political parties disolved.

Ike Suspected Jordan Intrigue

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower suspected last October that international intrigue was aimed at carving up the kingdom of Jordan.

In fact there was some feeling that the Israeli invasion of Egypt might have been pointed earlier at Jordan.

The President and his advisers haven't forgotten their October suspicions, particularly in the light of the political tug-of-war now going on in and around Jordan.

The administration's fear then, and to some extent now, was that Middle Eastern politicians might, by accident if not design, begin a Jordan land grab that could wind up in a first class war.

Prior to the Oct. 29 invasion of Egypt, American intelligence agencies were frantically trying to figure out exactly what was happening in Israel and surrounding areas. The jigsaw puzzle confirming a coordinated British-French-Israeli plan wasn't pieced together until about 24 hours before the attack.

Mideast Crisis Still Critical

By UNITED PRESS

Reports circulated today in Baghdad that Russian "volunteers" from Moslem areas of the Soviet Union are standing by in Syria ready to go into action if Syria becomes embroiled in a war with its Arab neighbors.

King Hussein of Jordan has demanded that Syria withdraw its 3,000 or more troops from Jordan. And a Baghdad dispatch today confirmed that highly mobile forces of the Iraqi army are poised near the Jordanian frontier, ready to drive them out if Hussein summons help.

President Shukri El Kuwatli of Syria flew today to Riyadh, the political center of Saudi Arabia, for talks with King Saud on the Jordan crisis and its threat to the neutral Arab bloc. Kuwatli was accompanied by Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, chief political adviser to President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

New Complications

The Baghdad reports injected new possibilities of international complications. United Press correspondent Jack Saul said reports the Soviet "volunteers" were in position could not be confirmed officially. But he said there had been official talk of volunteers entering Syria from Moslem regions of Russia. Russia is known to have supplied arms to both Syria and Egypt.

Saul said Hussein and King Feisal of Iraq, his cousin, were in continuous communication and that Feisal had sent his troops to the desert no-man's land where Jordan and Iraq share an 80-mile frontier some 180 miles east of Amman.

United Press Correspondent Joe Morris reported from Amman that King Hussein appeared to have the situation under control, with local troops patrolling the streets and armored cars and tanks stationed at strategic intersections.

U.S. Sounds Warnings

The threat of a general conflict was still so great the United States sent urgent diplomatic warnings to Israel and the Arab countries not to capitalize on Jordan's internal troubles. It backed them up by sending the U.S. 6th Fleet to the eastern Mediterranean.

A Naples dispatch said the fleet was assembling at a secret rendezvous off Italy for a dash to the Middle East in support of President Eisenhower's warnings against a Communist takeover attempt in Jordan.

The fleet consisted of the supercarrier Forrestal and the carrier Lake Champlain, a battleship, guided missile cruisers and a landing force of 1,800 Marines. The Marines would be used to evacuate Americans if war breaks out.

Washington officials said the fleet's movement did not imply U.S. armed involvement in the Middle East since Hussein has not asked for aid. They said it was a "calming" influence and that there was "no alarm as of now" that large-scale fighting will break out.

Leader said that in the last month of 1956 the number of persons in state mental institutions totaled 39,947—a decline of almost 1,000 from the December, 1955 figure. Leader spoke Thursday night at the Northeast State Governments Council on Mental Health here.

Future Looks Brighter, Corning Officials Say

The future looks brighter for the consumer products division and the Charleroi plant of Corning Glass Works, thanks to the introduction of new designs and colors for cooking, baking and household consumer glass ware, officials of the company explained at the Twin Coaches last evening.

The occasion was the 10th anniversary dinner for 600 veteran employes and guests who heard an address by Corning President William C. Decker and a report by R. Lee Waterman, vice president and general manager of the consumer products division.

H. Marvin Hosier, as new plant manager, was toastmaster and read a telegram from George D. Macbeth, CGW vice president and controller, who was unable to attend the dinner for the first time in several years. Macbeth is in Europe.

The affair honored six veteran Charleroi employes who were presented $1 000 checks and diamond pins in recognition of 50 years service with the Macbeth-Evans Glass Co. and Corning Glass Works.

Officials honored for their long service with the company explained the checks and pins to were John Ferio, Harry Powell, John Tarzier, Joseph J. Crash and John Yeager. It was explained that the other $1 000 check will be presented to the widow of Biago Peluso who had completed 50 years service with the companies at the time of his death Aug. 27, 1956.

Other long service pin winners awarding special recognition during the evening were Louis Moschell and William F. Moyer, 65 years; Gilbert A. Baisel, 55 years, and Maurice Berent and Peter Yeager, 45 years.

State Will Rebuild Span Over Loyalhanna Creek

Replace Bridge Which Collapsed Into the Water

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department said today it will erect a temporary span "as soon as possible" across Loyalhanna Creek at Saltsburg to replace a 150-foot suspension bridge which collapsed into the water Thursday.

A department spokesman said two engineers sent to the scene reported today the abutments of the 57-year-old bridge were undamaged except at the tops and might be used as the foundation for a temporary structure.

The department also sought to secure a Bailey bridge from either the U.S. Army Engineers or the National Guard but said it was having little success in locating one.

"We will get a new permanent bridge there as soon as possible," the spokesman said. "But in the meantime we are looking for material in our stockpiles to put up a temporary span to alleviate the traffic jam."

The bridge carrying Route 981 over the Loyalhanna Creek collapsed as an automobile carrying Homer E. Fennell and his son, Harry, 16, crossed the span. They escaped the 20-foot drop without injury.

The 1,200 residents of Saltsburg consider the bridge vital to their daily welfare. The 57-year-old bridge was a vital link between Route 22 and 30 and without it residents must take a difficult 15-mile detour to reach Westmoreland County points which ordinarily require travel time of only a few minutes.

Nearly 40 community leaders met in emergency session Thursday night to discuss their emergency. A committee of six will meet daily until the state takes some action. Meanwhile, they are asking Army engineers to build a temporary span.

Saltsburg, which sits at the juncture of Loyalhanna Creek and the Kiskiminetas River, has asked state authorities several years ago for a new Route 981 bridge.

Seven Hurt as Brakes Fail on Steep Grade

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Three Westmoreland County women and four children were injured Thursday when the brakes failed on their automobile and it went down a 30-foot embankment into a creek.

Mrs. Mary McConnell, 28, and Mrs. Hazel Rodgers, 28, both of Mount Pleasant, were in serious condition at Braddock General Hospital. Both suffered head injuries. Mrs. McConnell underwent surgery Thursday night and Mrs. Rodgers was to be operated on today.

The others injured were: Mrs. Vicky Rodgers, 26, driver of the car; her son, Tony, 5, and Mrs. McConnell's children, Merelen, 2, Gail Ann, 3, and Danny, 4.

Mrs. Vicky Rodgers suffered a leg fracture, Merelen a leg fracture, Tony fractures of both legs, Gail Ann a possible skull fracture, and Danny undetermined head injuries.

The victims, all related, were returning home after a visit in Pitcairn, Allegheny County.

Pitcairn police said Mrs. Vicky Rodgers sounded the horn steadily as the car sped down a steep grade on Hillside Ave., warning other motorists.

Jordan Rioters Easy To Find for Money

LONDON (UP)—In Jordan you can hire rioters like casual laborers.

Most of them come from the crowded refugee camps of Amman, Jericho and Jerusalem, where nearly 500,000 homeless victims of the 1948 Palestine War live in bitterness and hatred.

They are the "angry young men" of the Middle East.

At the cost of a few dinars—the snackle camps—where they live on 9 cents worth of food a day—to riot, pillage and burn for anyone who pays them.

Today they are the power behind the powerful nationalist movement in Jordan which wants to curb the power of the King and align Jordan with Egypt and Syria in a "neutralist," anti-Western federation.

Against Baghdad Pact

The riots began over a proposal which on Jan. 7 1956 when approximately 5,000 students, pupils and Amman's streets to demonstrate against the proposal that Jordan should join the Baghdad Pact.

Anti-West fury caused the downfall of the Jordan government, a general strike and the burning of the U.S. Information Service and U.S. Information Service libraries in Jordan. They sacked United Nations relief offices and had to be put down by troops.

Martial law and a curfew were imposed in Amman, but Jordan stayed out of the Baghdad Pact.

After the January riots the U.S. embassy, which stands on a hill overlooking the city, began erecting a high wall to protect it from flying rocks and bullets.

The post office, which stands in the center of town near the government building, also has been heavily sandbagged and provided with steel shutters.

Normal Riot Area

It is in the middle of the normal riot area on the road which leads to foreign embassies and legations.

It is also near the entrance to the bazaar quarter where, over innumerable cups of turkish coffee, the plot deals are hatched.

Many of the go-betweens and troublemakers are Communists — which explains the rash of anti-Eisenhower Doctrine slogans in the newest riots, although the question of whether Jordan will subscribe to the doctrine is a relative side issue in the struggle for power between the mobs and the palace.

If there is rioting in Amman, [illegible] almost certainly more rioting in Jericho and Jerusalem.

Ike Calls for More Up-to-date GOP

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — President Eisenhower today called on fellow party members to develop a "stronger, competely up-to-date Republican Party," dedicated to three major objectives.

The President, here at the Augusta National Golf Club for a brief vacation, expressed a need to make the party more responsive to the modern-day needs and aspirations of the people in a speech telephoned to a group of New England Republicans meeting in Providence, R.I.

"This administration is committed to a program that has as its goals the establishment of a foreign policy dedicated to maintaining peace throughout the world, a stronger national economy to permit vigorous expansion and growth, and a higher standard of living for all Americans, the President said.

New Legislation

Eisenhower's views on keeping the party up with the times followed a call for new legislation that would give the secretary of labor authority to make public union financial records.

The President met with Labor Secretary Mitchell Thursday and then issued a 400-word statement in which he called labor racketeering an "abomination that must be stopped. He outlined specific steps for the registration of union welfare and pension plans.

Mitchell said following the conference that the President is in favor of a key measure which will be presented to Congress immediately. The bill would give the secretary of labor the authority to look over union funds and make them public.

In his message to New England Republicans, Eisenhower called for more GOP rallies on the local levels to "give us an early start on the all-important urgent task of electing a Republican House and Senate in 1958.

The President said "our never ending task is to make the Republican Party responsible to the modern-day needs and aspirations of all the people. We welcome constructive suggestions and more active participation in governmental affairs by the people.

The meeting of Republican officials in Providence was the second in a series of regional conferences. The President also made a speech by telephone to a meeting of GOP leaders at Omaha, Neb., two weeks ago.

The Chief Executive noted "differences of opinion within the party but said that was a "healthy condition as long as the fundamental beliefs within the party provide a common nucleus of thought, a common ground. "We have that in the Republican Party, he said.

"As Republicans we have much upon which we can agree as long as we adhere to the principles laid down by our first Republican President, Abraham Lincoln. I believe we can resolve any differences among us, and move forward with programs that will prove of lasting value to all Americans today and in the future.

Gasoline Tax Is Unnecessary, Legislator Says

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said that new figures disclosed by the Highways Department have served to convince Republican lawmakers that they were correct in dropping the state's gasoline tax by one cent.

The reduction in the gasoline tax will become effective June 1 when the levy drops from six to five cents per gallon.

Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), committee chairman, said a committee hearing revealed the Highways Department will have a $124,500,000 balance in the Motor License Fund at the end of this biennium instead of the $65,921,000 originally forecast.

"It is now agreed by everyone that the Highways Department will have more than 819 million dollars to spend in the 1957-59 biennium even without this tax," Wood said.

The hearing before the committee also disclosed the department is behind schedule on 41 million dollars worth of road building that it had planned for the current biennium, Wood said.

"There is no reason to expect that the situation will change very much with even a greater highway construction program in the next two years," Wood added.

MONESSEN TO HAVE NEW "WHITE WAY" — The business section of downtown Monessen will have a new and brighter lighting system similar to the one shown above in nearby Irwin. Two six-feet fluorescent tubes will be installed on each pole. Work on the Monessen system will begin Oct. 1. It will provide twice as much illumination as the present system.

Complete Plans for New Street Lighting Program in Monessen

A new "great white way" is planned for downtown Monessen.

Alex Newell, West Penn Power Co. official, yesterday informed Mayor Hugo J. Parente that plans have been completed for the installation for a new and brighter lighting system for downtown Monessen.

The new system, Newell said, will give "twice as much light."

The official said West Penn will install new fluorescent lighting on present poles on Donner Ave. from Second to Eighth streets and on Schoonmaker Ave. from Second to Sixth streets. He said installations in other parts of downtown Monessen "will come later."

Newell said work on the new lighting system will begin about Oct. 1 and should be completed "about Thanksgiving time."

Once installed, the system will operate by "electric eye" instead of the present time system. Newell said the "electric eye" will turn on the lighting system when ever natural high goes down to two candlepower. It will automatically turn off when natural light is over two candlepower.

The present irridescent system in the space to be replaced gives illumination totaling 530,000 candlepower. The new system will provide some 1,061,200 candlepower.

The installation will cost West Penn Power about $24,000, according to Newell. It will mean an increase of about $2,787 in the city's annual electric bill for this specified area.

Steel and about one year each with the Scaife Co. and H. H. Robertson Co., he joined Pittsburgh Steel as a time study engineer at the Monessen plant in 1938.

Four years later he was made chief industrial engineer for both the Monessen and Allenport plants. In 1951 he was named assistant to the vice-president — operations and in 1955 became general manager of operations.

Breuer is a native of Carnick in Pittsburgh, having attended public schools there before receiving his bachelor of science degree at Carnegie Tech. At present he and his wife, the former Doris Ogden, of Carnick, live with their three children, Carole, 12, Douglas, 9, and Bruce, 19 months, on Orchard Ave. in Belle Vernon.

Carter Only 38

Carter, too despite his 38 years, has fast gained a wealth of steel experience since his graduation from Penn State University in 1940. Carter, the son of Joseph H. Carter, former president and chairman of the board of Pittsburgh Steel, worked in the open hearth department of Sharon Steel Company's plant in Lowellsville, Ohio, during his summer vacations from college. During 1938 and 1939 he worked as a second helper. Following graduation he worked as a first helper in the Lowellsville works for 18 months.

He later became night superintendent of that plant. His steel career was interrupted in 1942 when he joined the U. S. Navy. He was stationed in the Philadelphia Navy Yard and later aboard the U. S. S. Fall River, a heavy cruiser assigned to the Atlantic fleet in World War II. He was discharged in 1945 and the following year joined the Pittsburgh Steel Products Division of Pittsburgh Steel.

Carter went to Johnson Steel's Worcester plant in 1947 as assistant works manager and was placed in charge of operations at that plant a year later.

He was born in Youngstown, O., and attended schools there prior to enrolling in Penn State's metallurgy school. He is married to the former Polly Carroll, of Youngstown. Their three children are Antoinette, 13, Sally, 10, and Joseph, 7. The Carters are living in Worcester at present. Their future living plans are uncertain.

The building will serve as the center of Commonwealth activities in the western section of the state and will house more than 50 state agencies. The structure, for which ground was broken in 1955, is the first such "branch office building of the state government. Another is now under construction in Philadelphia.

The building brings under one roof the numerous state offices which formerly were scattered throughout the city.

50-YEAR MEN RECEIVE $1,000 CHECKS — Five men each with 50-year service with the Charleroi plant of the Corning Glass Co. were presented with a $1,000 check apiece last night at the firm's 105th anniversary at Twin Coaches. H. Marvin Hosier, of Monessen, plant manager, made the presentations. (L. to r.) are John Yeager, Joseph Urash, Hosier, Harry Powell, John Fero and Joseph Turtzer. (See story on Page 1)

in the pin presentation ceremonies included William H. Curtiss, honorary vice president, who presented the 35, 40, 45, 55 and 65 year pins; William C. Taylor, honorary vice president, 25 and 30 years; Waterman, 15 and 20 years; and Richard M. Clifford, manager of manufacturing, consumer products division, 10 years. Also introduced was Nicholas Unkovic, labor counsel for the company.

Decker commented on the general level of company business, reviewing achievements of the past year and looking forward to the prospects for 1957.

He said Amory Houghton, chairman of the board of Corning Glass Works, and Macbeth both looked forward each year to attending the Charleroi banquet. However, both are in Europe — Houghton having recently taken up his State Department post in Paris as ambassador to France.

Decker announced the company's new research and administration center will be officially dedicated in Corning, N. Y., late in May and expressed the opinion that the research program made possible by the establishment of the center will do much to bring about an even greater growth of Corning during the years to come.

Waterman traced the development of several new Charleroi-produced consumer goods during the past year and expressed the opinion that several new items, including a newly designed and decorated mixing bowl set and four or five new casserole designs and patterns, will have high acceptance in the consumer market and will bring about increased business in the opal glass line for the Charleroi plant.

House-to-House Canvass Planned In Cancer Drive

A house-to-house fund drive will be held in Monessen next Wednesday for the benefit of the American Cancer Society, it was announced today by Mrs. Irvin Bayer, chairman, and Mrs. Morris Epstein, co-chairman.

Headed by B'nai B'rith women for the second straight year, this year's committee will attempt to contact every home in Monessen in the one-day drive for funds to help fight the dreaded disease.

Mrs. Bayer and Mrs. Epstein said there will be no solicitations made in local industries. Joseph Friedland will be in charge of soliciting business and professional persons.

Captain's of the house-to-house drive are representatives of various women's organizations. They include:

Mrs. Michael Berthince, Mrs. Domenico Carozza, Mrs. John Stieska, Mrs. Michael Chan, Mrs. Irene Vizza, Mrs. Herschel Lieber, Mrs. Offa Pugh, Mrs. Frank Ezerski, Mrs. Jerry Lieber, Mrs. Willard Krasik, Mrs. Etta Borof, Mrs. Hattie Shire, Mrs. John Micak, Mrs. Myrtle Wilcox, Mrs. Herbert Krause, Mrs. Max Heater, Mrs. James Krasik, Mrs. Wayne Kalvesmaki, Mrs. Louis Zurich, Mrs. Beverly Draper, Mrs. William Schwartz, Mrs. Sam Pavloff, Mrs. Carl Rose, Mrs. Hazel Rhome, Mrs. DuBoise Carter, Mrs George Kachur and Mrs. Rose Lutes.

J & L to Take Over Detroit Steel Firm

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corperation will complete the acquisition of Rotary Electric Steel Company of Detroit "within the next few days."

This was disclosed by Avery C. Adams, president, at a stockholders meeting Thursday. The move will mark J&L's entry into the stainless steel and high-alloy business.

Stockholders paved the way for completion of the deal by approving an increase of J&L $10 par common stock from 7 million to 10 million dollars. The company will exchange four of its shares for five of Rotary.

Also approved was a proposal to increase J&Ls indebtedness from 180 million dollars to 300 million dollars. No plans for utilizing the increase were announced.

Adams said the firm expects to operate at an average of 95 per cent of capacity through 1957 and realize net income of 50 million dollars. He predicted J&L would reach a one-billion-dollars-a-year sales rate in 1958.

First quarter operations averaged 102 per cent of capacity, he said.

The company reported first quarter sales and net income of $203,965,000 and $12,823,000, respectively, compared with $195,272,000 and $13,559,000 in the first quarter of 1956.

Chairman Ben Morcell explained the drop in income was due to "substantial charges to profit and loss and interference penalties, both resulting from our heavy construction program.' He said earnings for the month of March, 1957, were the highest monthly earnings in the company's history.

Directors voted quarterly dividends of 62½ cents on common and $1.25 on preferred, both payable July 1 to holders of record June 7.

Pardons Board Probe To Continue Monday

HARRISBURG (UP)—The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board will resume hearings next Monday after giving up plans to wind up its inquiry this week.

The Democratic minority members on the six-man committee had their inning Thursday when the investigation turned to a review of cases handled by the board when it was under Republican administration.

Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Rep. Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria) had repeatedly charged that although the committee was instructed to review cases back to January, 1950, the Republican majority has concentrated entirely on cases handled by the present Democratic Pardons Board.

However, at Yosko's insistence the committee brought witnesses to testify concerning three clemency cases heard by the previous Republican board.

Former Pardons Board Secretary Joseph Nissley was the first of several witnesses in the case of Thomas M. Wheatley, a Langhorne garage owner convicted in 1953 of wounding a state policeman.

Sentenced to a 3½-7 year term for assault with intent to kill, Wheatley's sentence was commuted by former Gov. John S. Fine to one year.

The state Parole Board, however, refused to parole Wheatley at the time on the grounds that his release "would not be in the best interests of the public."

Rehearing Granted

Nissley testified the board rejected a previous appeal by Wheatley, but that a letter from his lawyer, Robert C. Duffy, former GOP City Chairman of Philadelphia, prompted a rehearing by the board.

When Fine acted favorably on the second clemency plea, in December, 1954, the Parole Board, acting according to state regulations, notified the Pardons Board in January, 1955, that it did not believe his release should be granted. At that time, the Democratic administration had been installed and it upheld the Parole Board recommendation.

Wheatley, by virtue of Fine's action, was eligible for release and he was finally paroled by the board after having served 21 months.

Bucks County Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, who had sentenced Wheatley, testified he still believed the sentence he imposed "should have been carried out."

In letters opposing commutation of Wheatley's sentence, Satterthwaite said there was "a storm of protest in Bucks County" against Wheatley's release. Under questioning, he also said "there was some fuss raised in the public press."

The judge told the committee he was appointed by Fine and elected without opposition in 1953. Asked about his "politics" by Yosko, he replied: "That's none of the committee's business."

He told the committee that he had no knowledge of any "corrupt influence or improper conduct" on the part of the Pardons Board in any case. Asked if he had any recommendations for "remedial legislation as to the composition of the board," he said he had none.

No Recommendations

"I haven't made a study of it," he said. "I don't know enough about the matter to make any recommendations."

But he said the death sentence commutations of David Darcy and two accomplices convicted of killing a bystander in a holdup at a Bucks County tavern in 1947 constituted a "mockery" of criminal law.

"The dignity of the legal process was maligned and abused by the commutations," he said.

Monessen Man Named In Lawsuit

In an auto damage lawsuit filed in Fayette County Court yesterday, heavy damages are being asked by John W. Rhodes and George R. Rhodes, of Wharton, Twp., against Jerry Andricovich, of Monessen.

The suit is the result of a car-truck accident on U. S. Route 40 near Wharton Rd. in Fayette County on July 3, 1955.

In each cause of action the defendants seeks damages in excess of $1,000. They are represented by Attys. Thomas A. Waggoner Jr. and Alfred E. Jones Jr.

John Rhodes states in the complaint that he was driving a pick-up truck in a westerly direction on U. S. 40, near the Wharton Furnace Rd. intersection, with his brother, George, as a passenger.

Truck Demolished

The defendant drove his sedan through the intersection and struck the rear of the other vehicle, the suit avers. The pickup truck, as the result of the accident, was reduced in value from $1,600 to $320.

John Rhodes suffered two fractured vertebrae, a concussion and shock. George Rhodes sustained lacerations of the scalp and head, fracture of the right clavicle, paralysis of the right shoulder and an injury to the spine.

John Rhodes asserts he lost a month's work at the Clairton steel mill, with a loss of earnings of $350, together with hospital and medical expenses. His brother, the suit ads, was hospitalized 45 days, was unable to work at the same mill for eight months and his loss in wages totaled $2,800. He also incurred heavy hospital and medical bills, he said.

Negro's Invitation Rescinded

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — An invitation to a Philadelphia Negro clergyman to attend a dinner honoring "distinguished Virginians" was rescinded Thursday by the Virginia Chamber of Commerce.

The invitation was extended last week to Rev. Dr. William H. Gray Jr., pastor of a Baptist church here and vice president of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches. Dr. Gray was one of six prominent Negroes who received invitations.

Four of the six indicated they would not attend, but Dr. Gray and Domestic Judge Edward R. Dudley, of New York, said they would.

A letter of revocation was sent to Dr. Gray which said the invitation was "regrettable and sent to you in error." The letter, written by Frank A. Ernst, president of the Virginia chamber, said, "a host must control his guest list to the exigencies of the occasion."

"Accordingly, I hereby rescind this invitation sent you in error and extend my apologies to you for any inconvenience, embarrassment or concern."

Dr. Gray had written to Virginia Gov. Thomas B. Stanley asking clarification, stating he was happy to be "born a Negro" and "proud that I was born in Virginia."

His church office said Dr. Gray was in St. Augustine, Fla., to speak at Florida Normal and Industrial College, where he was once president.

Legislators Want Vote on Gambling

A CONSIDERABLE number of members of the Pennsylvania Assembly seem disposed to submit to a decision of the state's voters the question of legalizing gambling in several forms.

The House Committee on Law and Order has voted to send to the floor a bill which would authorize a state-wide referendum on legal gambling in bingo, raffles, lotteries and betting on horse races.

The Senate plans to vote Monday on a measure providing for a referendum on horse race betting, and our information is that it has a fair chance of passing.

The attitude of many legislators was expressed by Rep. Harry A. Naugle, Republican, of Somerset, who is chairman of the Law and Order Committee. He said:

"It's a decision that has been hanging fire for several sessions. Let the people decide the issue once and for all."

This is an understandable attitude. Our lawmakers are bedevilled and bedamned at every session of the Assembly on the question of legalizing gambling. The opponents are apt to be as vigorous and demanding as the proponents, and between them they can make the life of a legislator thoroughly miserable.

* * *

WE HAVE suggested here before that this is the kind of issue which lends itself to a public debate and a decision by the voters at the polls. We don't mind saying that, if the issue is raised, this paper will be opposed to the legalization of gambling in any form, and we feel confident that we can make a plausible case.

Nevertheless, we see nothing wrong with a referendum on the subject. It would serve to clear the atmosphere considerably.

It may come as a surprise to many people in this area to learn that such forms of gambling as bingo and raffles are not now legal. For they are regularly sponsored by churches and other worthy organizations, with at least the tacit consent of the police authorities.

This strikes us as being very wrong. As long as the law prohibits gambling, the crime is no less offensive because it is committed under respectable auspices.

But here again a referendum might be useful. For it would give the responsible authorities a clear indication, not only of the force of the law, but of the disposition of the public, which is always a factor in law enforcement.

Serious Business

PRESIDENT Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seem to be taking a serious view of the civil strife in the little Arab kingdom of Jordan. This strife is unquestionably a product of Communist intrigue, abetted by the inherent weakness of Jordan itself. Trouble-making is easy in such an environment.

King Hussein, who has shown himself to be one of the most reliable friends of the West in the Arab world, is in danger of losing his throne. In the past two weeks there have been several changes in his government, and his hold on the reins has been tightened one day only to be relaxed the next.

The position of the United States is that the Communist agents and the agents of the Egyptian dictator, Colonel Nasser, must not be allowed to put a spark to the tinder box. For no one could say how far such a flame might spread.

This is precisely the kind of situation which the so-called Eisenhower Doctrine was designed to meet. Jordan's independence is threatened by the infiltration of Communist meddlers. And if King Hussein certifies to this fact and asks for American assistance, we would seem to be obligated under the Eisenhower Doctrine to provide it.

This is the reason why the U. S. Sixth Fleet, based in the Mediterranean, was suddenly ordered to sea yesterday. Jordan's plight could well furnish the occasion for a serious showdown.

E. T. Weir Retires

IT WAS, of course, inevitable that Earnest T. Weir, the great steel captain, would some day retire as he is now doing at the age of 81. But his retirement will not dim the lustre of one of the most unique business careers in American history.

Over a half century ago, Mr. Weir was in Monessen managing a new steel plant. And it was from his position here that he launched himself on the adventure which resulted in the development of National Steel Corp., the nation's fourth largest producer.

Mr. Weir has been a rugged individual and as sharp a businessman as we have had. But his ruggedness and astuteness have been shaded with a degree of civic consciousness which is hardly characteristic of steel leaders.

Mr. Weir seemed never to forget that the manufacture of steel and the making of money were not the sole objectives of the process. And his understanding will make him long remembered in the communities where his enterprise led him.

Merry-Go-Round—

Big Ranchers Cash in on Relief Funds

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One of the worst scandals inside the Agriculture Department is the manner in which big farmers have cashed in on the emergency drought program with little or no supervision from Secretary Benson's boys.

Mr. Pearson

The feed program was established to help stricken farmers feed their cattle during the drought winters beginning in 1954. It was not supposed to help big farmers, especially those with other means of livelihood. The emphasis was placed on "need." However, in Pratt, Kansas, Richard Robbins and his brother, Ed Robbins, have been drawing substantial drought benefits.

Richard Robbins is a director of the Santa Fe RR, was former president of Pennsylvania Central Airlines, former president of Trans-World Airlines, and has other business interests. He is sufficiently well fixed to belong to the Yale Club and the University Club in New York, the Park Hill Country Club in Pratt, Kans., the Allegheny Country Club in Pittsburgh, the Wichita Club in Wichita, and the Graduates Club in New Haven. He has also been a strong Republican and was a delegate to the GOP National Convention in 1940.

Despite this, he and his brother drew on the Benson drought relief program for 173,060 pounds of cottonseed cake, 6,215 bushels of corn, and 1,500 bushels of oats up to February 1954.

Again in 1956 the Robbins ranches in Chase County, Kans., requested 644,000 pounds of feed grains. The application was signed by Evan Koger, manager. The application was OK'd and 515,000 pounds of feed authorized. Whether the Robbins brothers own both land and cattle in Chase County could not be ascertained. Ed Robbins pays taxes on both land and cattle. Richard Robbins isn't listed. Here 3,333,000 pounds of feed grain was requested and 2,323,000 was authorized.

Washington Is Evasive

Either Secretary Benson's boys don't want to know about this or are covering up. Persistent attempts by this column to find out how much drought relief was being used by big farmers generally and the Robbins brothers specifically, got nowhere.

When Kermit Hansen, head of Farmers Home Administration, was asked how much the Robbins brothers received, he replied:

"Well, I don't know. I'm in a peculiar spot. That would be divulging personal information, and I might get my neck in a noose. I don't mean to be uncooperative, but I don't know how to approach it. I know I am sparring with you, but I'm not just passing the buck. The emergency program is handled in the Secretary's office. We merely implement it under the direction of Ken Scott in the Secretary's office. The emergency program becomes too hot for us to handle."

Wesley D'Ewart was next queried. He is the ex-Congressman from Montana, who later ran for the Senate, and is now assistant to Ken Scott, director of Credit Services. Asked what the Agriculture Department was doing to prevent the misuse of drought relief funds, D'Ewart gave this long and involved explanation:

"The government requires the President to designate the area as a disaster area. Then Civil Defense is responsible, but it delegates the agricultural end to the Secretary of Agriculture. If they want a hay program, we have the state and each county set up a disaster committee and then the farmers make application to the county committee and in turn to the state committee. Then the state makes its recommendation to the Secretary.

"The Secretary also sends an experienced field man to look over the situation and make sure it qualifies under the law as a major disaster area for drought assistance," concluded D'Ewart.

Lots of Red Tape

"But how does Agriculture check up to see when farmers are actually getting the aid?" D'Ewart was asked.

"The farmers make application to their county disaster committee and they recommend," D'Ewart replied, which, of course, added nothing new.

"But we have a case where aid went to people who obviously didn't need it. How does your office police such abuses?" D'Ewart was asked.

"First, you have the county drought committee," he replied. "They know the people who live in the county. They issue the man a certificate within the regulations, one of which is 'Need.' If there are any reports of misuse, we have investigators we can send in. The state office is also in charge of the county offices. We've checked a number of reports and it's very seldom we find anything not within the law. Compliance has been surprisingly good."

Behind The News—

Russia Bolsters Arms Strength in Satellites

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia seems to be carrying out a big military build-up in the Communist satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

The build-up is reported to include the construction of rocket and guided-missile bases in East Germany, Poland and possibly Hungary.

Mr. McCann

The superhighway — Autobahn — which extends across Czechoslovakia, East Germany is being improved so that parts of it will serve as landing strips for jet fighter planes, according to one report.

Troop Build-up Reported

Russian troop reinforcements are said to be moving into some of the countries concerned. In others, according to dispatches from West Germany, garrison troops are being replaced by fresh units from Russia, which would be more trustworthy in event of trouble.

While this is going on, the Soviet government also is conducting a somewhat puzzling and contradictory diplomatic campaign.

This includes threats to Allied countries of frightful destruction in event of war, bids for better relations with the big Western powers and hints of important concessions in the current United Nations disarmament negotiations in London.

What the whole business adds up to, it is difficult to figure out.

But for one thing, it looks as if the Soviet government is really worried over the threat it would face, if war came, from the bases the United States and its allies maintain in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

Fear German Uprising

Further, though Communist-ruled East Germany seems to be quiet and tough "Stalinist" leaders are in control there, the Russians seem to fear the possibility that an uprising might break out there at any time.

It must be remembered, too, that the satellite countries have become economic liabilities since the Polish and Hungarian revolts, and that they are likely to remain so.

Hence it may be that the reported build-up of military strength and striking power in the satellite countries is largely defensive.

It may be also that the recent optimism over the possibility that a start may be made toward disarmament is justified.

That would mean that the Soviet government is ready at last to agree to limited aerial inspection of military facilities.

Ike May Extend His Vacation

By MERRIMAN SMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — Backstairs at the spring White House:

If the good weather holds down here in Georgia, President Eisenhower may extend his spring vacation into next week.

The expectation had been that he would return to Washington next Sunday, but the word from the heavily-guarded Augusta National Golf Club where Ike and Mamie are having a holiday is that the President may stay after Sunday.

Louis C. Harris, executive editor of the Augusta Chronicle-Herald, suggested in a column last Sunday that the hotel might borrow some tents from nearby Fort Gordon and move the White House party under canvas come Sunday night.

Harris in an open letter to the President, pleaded the case of the hotel manager.

"What's he gonna do with the White House boys Sunday night?" Harris wrote the President. "They occupy 60 rooms. And, if he (the manager) follows his heart and caters to them, how's he going to placate a bunch of irate Rotarians?" He may find himself a victim of the Rotary wheel."

The hotel manager was deeply grateful for Harris' sympathy, but he no sooner had read the column than he began to hear from members of the White House party. Was this sort of an implied invitation to Mr. Eisenhower to move out of town so his camp followers could make room for a convention?

Harris vowed to the contrary. He loves the President and thinks his trips here have done a lot for Augusta. He was merely having fun in print.

But in the meantime, the President saw the column and began to discuss it with his friends out at the golf club. He was somewhat surprised that he, even by implication, was in any way responsible for the living conditions of the people who move with him.

The situation, however well intentioned in the beginning, began to get out of hand. Some of the town's more prominent citizens offered their spare bedrooms. The Army was ready with tents if necessary.

But Breshears solved everything as the Rotarians were packing and heading for Augusta. He informed the White House that it would be possible to "relocate" some of the civic club members, and personally, he hoped Mr. Eisenhower stayed here until June. It has been in the nineties here this week, but it really gets hot in June.

Members of Authority Defend Parking Plaza

(Editor's Note—The writers of the following letter are members of the Monessen Parking Authority.)

To the Editor:

This letter is in reference to the political ad which appeared in your newspaper on April 23, page 7.

It is truly regrettable that the writer of the ad made the entirely baseless charge that the Monessen Municipal Parking Authority is controlled by local politics. Since the writer of the ad states that a blunder has been committed, allow us to outline how the Plaza came to be.

From the beginning, our task was clearly outlined. The traffic conditions in Monessen were congested to the point that immediate relief had to be provided. Working against us was a negative survey submitted by a professional engineer, Mr. White. In this negative survey, Mr. White very appropriately summed the difficult problem when he described our downtown district as being shaped like an elongated hot-dog, restricted to the south by a hillside and to the north by railroad tracks, with the main business district confined within two blocks.

Personal Planning

After considerable personal planning by the Authority — during which time we took consideration of ideas or proposals of all interested citizens — we decided that we should seek to have the problem re-studied by another qualified professional engineer. Mr. D. McNeil was accordingly consulted and retained by the Authority.

Mr. McNeil directed a comprehensive nine and one-half hour survey on Thursday, Sept. 23, 1954 with a confirmatory follow-up on Sept. 30, 1954. This survey indicated the following:

1. On that average business day of Sept. 23, 1954, we needed 131 additional parking spaces.

2. 9,878 vehicles entered the downtown area and transported 18,458 persons.

3. At the time when the survey was made, the city was able to provide a grand total of 916 parking spaces.

4 Of the 2,288 counted vehicles which parked downtown:

Only 12 percent of these vehicles parked three hours or more but occupied 50 percent of the available parking space. 88 percent of the vehicles parked for less than three hours, with 1010 vehicles parking under 20 minutes and occupying the remaining 50 percent of the legal parking spaces.

5. 57 percent of all motorists who stopped and parked were attracted to the district for shopping purposes.

6. That people shopping or transacting business are reluctant to walk over 700 feet.

Land Cost High

Together with our consultant engineer, we first attempted to create the necessary parking facilities at the very traffic center. We were compelled to abandon this hope when our three independent real estate appraisals indicated that the land acquisition cost would be so high that the project would not be financially sound.

For this reason, and also because we felt that the business district needed to be spread out, we located those parking facilities within a 450 foot walking distance of the heart of the business district. Further, our consultant engineer observed that, through proper use of the existing street elevations, it would be possible to provide a low cost multi-story parking plaza without internal ramps.

In a very general way, this is how the plaza came into being. We gave to this planning our best thinking and acted boldly in that direction which offered the greatest possibilities toward the solution of our community's most pressing problem.

Welcome Criticism

The Parking Authority welcomes constructive criticism and urges all interested citizens to attend its meetings, which have always been open to the public. It is interesting to note that the writer of the political ad never once attended one of our meetings; nor did he ever make known to any one of us any of the objections now being voiced.

To date, the Plaza has not cost the taxpayers one cent. We fully expect a deficiency for the first year operation and our original loan of $340,000 provides for this deficiency.

This is not the time to create "elephants" simply to win political favor. Rather, it is a time when all citizens should pledge their whole-hearted support by using the Plaza and by being kind and understanding motorists; it is a time for our local merchants to honor their voluntary pledge by including the tokens with the change so that people will not need to ask; it is the time for each of us to realize that we will need to become acclimated to the Plaza in the same way that the people of larger cities have become accustomed to more complicated parking garages with narrow, circular ramps and which have a 35 cents per hour assessment.

Finally, we should like to remind the writer of the political ad of one thing: he has a perfect right to criticize his opponent. Whether this criticism is constructive or abusive is entirely his own business. But when the writer of the ad implicates people, not involved in the campaign or "controlled" in any sense, in a misleading political ad, he demonstrates irresponsibility and demeans himself in a manner which does not befit the office he seeks.

Secretaries in Demand; Jobs More Attractive

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The girl who wants a secretarial position these days can just about write—or type—her own ticket.

Employers, employment agencies and business schools report a national shortage of the indispensable girl Friday. And employers are offering all sorts of attractions, including money, in their efforts to fill the jobs.

Gay Pauley

Starting salary in New York, for instance, averages $65 a week. most agencies said. In a couple of years, a girl should be earning $80 to $85, and if she is executive secretary caliber eventually may earn $125 to $150. Salaries in other cities probably run a little lower, most sources said.

Miss Martha Rosamond, Spokane, Wash., president of the National Secretaries Association, in town for observance of National Secretaries Week, told of some of the lures employers offer prospective secretaries.

One firm even advertised that its offices were furnished with eligible bachelors," said Miss Rosamond.

Companies have re-decorated offices in attractive pastels, installed the newest of equipment, even put in snack bars. A check of personnel departments in several New York firms, for instance, showed the prospective secretary often demands, or the employer offers her, coffee breaks, air-conditioned offices, time off to go to the hairdresser or dentist, her own office, even shopping time.

A check through the long lines of secretary-wanted ads in New York newspapers produced these samples: ". . . free coffee or tea at lunch"; "modern plush office, profit sharing plan for employes, free hospitalization and life insurance . . ."

Employers and business schools listed these reasons for the shortage . . . despite the fact there are close to two million girls in secretarial type jobs (secretaries, stenographers and typists) compared to the 988 thousand at work in 1940:

The nation's expanding economy has tripled the demand. The low birth rate during the depression years lowered the amount of "girl power" available today. Girls marry younger these days—the median age is 20. And some employers are reluctant to tap one source—the over-45 age group.

Ozarks May Need Full-Time Manager

The Monessen Ozarks, who have already signed some pretty good players for the upcoming Mon Valley League baseball season, may find themselves without a full-time manager. Tony Mascetta, who has directed the Ozarks for the past couple of campaigns, plans to leave Sunday for a job in the Scranton area. Mascetta figures he'll be on the road most of the summer even though he intends to maintain his Monessen residence . . . Dick Stuart, the cocky Pirate farmhand, slugged five homers during the first week of the season at Hollywood, but he's sagged into a real slump of late. Stuart has fanned 16 times in his last 29 trips to the plate, collecting just four hits.

In Sharon, they've set a minimum goal of $4000 to purchase gifts for the state champion Bengal basketballers. The money will be raised through tag days next weekend and a radiothon on May 7 . . . Incidentally, all money raised over the $4000 goal will be turned over to the community's Little League . . . The PIAA is considering an amendment which would permit schools to open their varsity football seasons on the first Friday following Labor Day. This would advance the campaign almost a week in some cases. One of the ideas is to avoid poor weather at the close of the season.

Stan Musial Off to Fast Getaway

And how about Stan Musial's fast getaway this season! Musial has collected 15 hits in 28 trips to the plate for a lusty .536 average at the moment. The Man has promised to pace himself this year as he makes a serious quest for the batting crown . . . Monongahela High's football coach Al Cree has been named to the Board of Control for the Washington County Coaches Association. Another member is Bill Watkins, California High cage boss . . . Andy Lelik, who was a member of Donora High's fine football and basketball teams back in the mid-forties, will bid for Justice of the Peace in the upcoming election campaign in his hometown.

Pauline Burdock, of Monessen, will defend her women's singles title in the Greater Pittsburg duckpin tournament sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph this weekend. Burdock automatically qualified for the title round. At stake will be $182 in prize money . . . By the way, the men's division in the same tourney will share $530 . . . The PIAA has cautioned schools to remember the rules when ordering new basketball uniforms. Beginning December 1, 1960, no numeral larger than five may appear on a uniform. The idea is to permit officials to signal to scorekeepers by using their fingers. Apparently the rules-makers feel that most officials have five fingers.

Monongahela Soccer Champ Again

Monongahela High has clinched the WPIAL soccer title for the second straight season . . . Ron Danko may find himself batting in another direction at Ninth Street Park during spring baseball drills. The former MHS slugger constantly plants practice pitches over the short right field barrier at the 299 mark. "We lose too many balls when Danko practices," kids Monessen USW manager Ralph Nicksich . . . By the way, the kids at Ninth Street are up to their old tricks, charging a quarter for every ball returned to the park . . . The umpires are certainly living up to their promise to force schoolboy baseballers to wear protective plastic helmets at bat. It's a good idea and the Mon Valley League should adopt the policy, too.

Charleroi Swamps Monessen, 14 to 5

Cougar Nine Has No Trouble in Section 17 Game

Charleroi High's undefeated baseballers had no trouble with Monessen in a Section 17 game at Ninth Street Park yesterday.

The visitors jumped all over an endless succession of Monessen pitchers for a 14-5 victory.

The Greyhounds trailed, 14-0, going into the final frame when they rallied for five runs.

Until the sixth inning, the Hounds were without a hit. In short, it was no contest.

Myron Sepitko started on the mound for the Hounds and he might have kept the final score respectable. However a sore arm forced him off the hill after the third inning.

Crawley Pitches, Too

Then followed Walter Jackson, a sophomore, and Carl Crawley, a senior who volunteered to end a five run uprising by the visitors in the sixth. He did, too.

For Charleroi, Carl Witmyer hurled the first three innings with the usual results. Art Artis handled the next two in equally hitless fashion.

In the sixth, Ron Zelenski toed the rubber for the Charleroians and Crawley managed to nick him for a triple. However he stayed right there.

In the final frame, Charleroi coach James (Toots) Fillingham called in Willie McKenna and the Hounds finally found somebody they could hit.

In no time at all they had five runs on three hits, including back-to-back doubles by Crawley and Sam Thorpe. At that point, Artis returned to the mound to end the game.

Artis and Joe Uhlman both homered for the victors.

As a matter of fact, Artis had quite a day, slamming a double and single, too, as well as scoring three times. Joe Arrigo also collected three hits while John Lenhart managed to score four runs without the benefit of a single safety.

The Greyhounds generously treated their guests to six miscues to assist in the Charleroi run-getting.

The setback was the fourth straight for the Hounds who also own an opening game win over Monongahela. Charleroi won its fourth in a row against no losses.

USW May Quit Valley League

Circuit to Play with Six Teams

Monessen USW may not field a team in the Mon Valley League this season after all.

At least that was the hot rumor at a scheduled meeting of the league last night in the Monessen Sport Shop.

Reportedly Manager Ralph Nicksich has given up in his efforts to keep the club alive. That will leave the city with just one MVL representative for the first time in several years.

The Monessen Ozarks have already posted their forfeit, as they are definitely enrolled in the 1957 campaign.

Only three teams were represented at last night's meeting for barred reasons. So Commissioner George Kuvinka decided to keep the discussion informal and call another session for next Monday at 9 p. m.

Six Team Loop

The feeling seemed to be that the MVL will operate this season with six teams; Ozarks, Fayette City, Van Voorhis, Donora, Charleroi and New Eagle.

Tentatively the season will start on Sunday, May 5 when Fayette City will visit Van Voorhis. The following day, Donora will show at Monessen while Charleroi will travel to New Eagle.

In all probability the season will be limited to 40 games. Teams will meet each other eight times, four at home and four on the road.

Valley Umps Will Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the Mon Valley Umpires Association will be held tonight at the Ravens Club beginning at 7:30 p. m. Secretary George Kuvinka has urged all members to be present.

PONY, Little League Tryouts Tomorrow

Baseball season will begin officially tomorrow for the youngsters in Monessen.

That's when both the Little League and PONY League will stage the first of three weekend tryout sessions.

The PONY League hopefuls are to report to Ninth Street Park at 9 a. m. Boys up to 15 are eligible to take part in PONY League program.

The Little League tryouts for youngsters between the ages of 10 and 12 will take place at both City Park and Ninth Street Park at 1 p. m.

Similar tryouts are scheduled for the next two Saturdays by both leagues. To be eligible for consideration in the respective drafts, a boy must take part in two of the workouts.

Same Teams

All lads who played Little League and PONY League ball in 1956 remain the property of their old teams. There is no necessity for them to work out the next three Saturdays, but they may do so in order to be in top playing shape for the upcoming season.

The PONY League will drill under the watchful gaze of managers Angelo Leone, USW; Nick Cullen, Ravens; Frank Arnoldi, Lions, and William Yohe, Eagles.

Tentatively, the PONY League season will open on June 4.

The Little League program, as usual, has been divided into two sections, American and National.

Boundary Line

The boundary is an imaginary line which starts at Third St. and Donner Ave. and continues to the intersection of Grand Blvd. and then south to Rostraver St.

All boys who live on the eastern side of the boundary must compete in the American League. Youngsters on the western side are National League tryout potentials.

The American League will work out at City Park while the National League candidates will report to Ninth Street.

Once the season begins, the National League will play at Memorial Stadium, while the American League will perform at Shawnee Park.

Managers from the eight Little League teams will be on hand to conduct the tryouts.

Ozarks Play At Jacobs Creek

The Monessen Ozarks will open their exhibition baseball season tonight at Jacobs Creek.

Manager Tony Mascetta has asked all players to report to Fuocos Service Station by 5:10 p. m. to make the trip to Jacobs Creek.

Tomorrow evening the Ozarks will work out at Ninth Street Park.

Mascetta said that candidates for the team are still welcome to turn out for practice sessions.

Chandnois Signs With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Veteran halfback Lynn Chandnois and rookie quarterback Eugene Chowski, both former standouts in Big Ten competition, signed 1957 contracts Thursday with the Pittsburgh Steelers football team.

Chandois, sidelined most of the 1956 season because of a shoulder fracture, will begin his eighth season with the Steelers. Cichowski captained the 1956 Indiana University team.

The Steelers have seven veterans and eight rookies signed for the coming season.

Texas, Villanova Favored in 63rd Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The eyes of Texas were on Villanova today as the 63rd Penn Relay Carnival opened on Franklin Field with the speedy Longhorns and the limping but still solid Wildcats opening their bids for three top titles in the two-day meet.

Only one major relay championship — the distance medley in which Villanova was defending champion — was on today's program of the 89-event track festival. But five individual titles were up for grabs and the terrific Texans tuned up in heats in two sprint relays in their first Carnival appearance since 1936.

The Texas fireball foursome of Wally Wilson, Hollis Gainey, Ed Southern and Bobby Whilden cracked its own world record with a 39.9 clocking in the 440-yard relay last week, and earlier equaled the world mark of 1:22.7 in the 880-yard relay.

The individual titles to be decided today were the 400-meter hurdles, the college two-mile run with Jim Beatty of North Carolina defending his title; the broad jump with Olympic champion Greg Bell of Indiana defending; the discus and hammer throw.

The biggest splash of the Carnival, which features four Olympic champions, comes Saturday when seven major championships will be decided in two hours. The meet will end with the classic one-mile relay coveted by both Villanova and Texas as the odd major title of the meet.

Rookie Wins for Richmond Nine

By UNITED PRESS

Bill Bethel, who held out from organized baseball for almost two seasons, is making up for lost time.

The six-foot, two-inch right hander won his second straight International League start as Richmond bested Toronto, 4-2, Thursday night. Bethel, who was 12-2 with Binghamton in the Eastern League last season, was touched for a two-run homer by Stan Jok for the visitors' only scores. The win, Richmond's sixth against two losses, enabled the Virginians to keep first place.

Bob Conley, a 23-year-old Miami rookie, won his second game with a four-hit, 7-0 shutout over Rochester. He was aided by a grand-slam homer by Forest Smith in the fourth inning. Lynn Lovenguth, 24-game winner last year, suffered his third successive defeat of the new campaign for the Wings.

In other games, Karl Drews and Buffalo defeated Havana, 7-2, on the strength of Louis Ortiz and Ray Noble homers, and Montreal evened its series with Columbus with a 9-5 victory. Connie Grob picked up the decision for the Royals.

Bellmar Nine Loses To Monongahela, 9-1

Bellmar High's baseball team ran into a two-hit pitching performance yesterday while dropping a 9-1 decision to Monongahela in Section 17 play at Van Voorhis.

Jack Evans authored the two-hitter for the Wildcats. He fanned seven Hurricanes and walked only two.

Meanwhile his mates combed Bellmars Fred Mollard and Bob Beggs for 11 safeties.

Milt Diaz paced the winners attack with a home run triple and single.

Rich Sacane, Ed Kikla and George Peters each had two hits.

Bellmar Hits

For Bellmar Bud Gardner and Conrad Luperi socked safeties to avert a clean shutout.

As a result of the win, Monongahela moved into undisputed possession of third place in the Valley standings.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

WEIGHT ON HEELS

Shank Shot Remedy

The shank is probably the most ridiculous looking shot and the least understood in golf. All golfers know what the shot looks like after it leaves the club — it slithers off almost at right angles, usually on a low line. But not nearly so many know what happens at contact.

The shank results when the ball is hit in the neck of the club. This sends the ball spinning to the right, across the clubface from left to right. Usually, the secondary contact the ball makes with the clubface gives the ball the little forward projection that keeps it from going completely at right angles.

The best remedy for the shank is to keep the weight back through the heels. It's the forward movement of the body on the downswing that causes you to hit the ball in the neck (some call it the hosol) of the club.

A stop-gap measure, such as might be needed if you are seized with the shanks in the course of a match, is to position the ball at address out near the toe of the club. This will compensate for a slight forward movement. But it will hardly help you get rid of the basic fault, which is this falling forward on the shot.

Bassey Takes on Berrios Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP) — Featherweights Hogan (Kid) Bassey and Miguel Berrios meet tonight in an internationally flavored boxing bout with the winner getting a shot at the world title.

Bassey is the British Empire champ and comes from Nigeria, Africa. Berrios hails from Puerto Rico. The two clash in a 12-round nationally televised bout in an American arena with the victor meeting France's Cherif Hamia for the vacant title.

Bassey was favored at 9-5 on the basis of his record (21 victories and seven losses) against well-known opponents. Bassey has won 47 of 57 bouts, but never has boxed in America.

Ring Magazine rates Berrios as No. 2 ...nder for the featherweigh ...nd Bassey No 3.

Hounds Cop Easy Win at Mon City

Sweeping all five matches, Monessen High's tennis team had no trouble in the Section 4 opener at Monongahela yesterday.

Coach Antoinette Valentine's polished Greyhound netters came out on top in the three singles and two doubles matches.

However the host Monongahelans made it interesting most of the way.

Only Joe Kurey, Monessen's superb star, had an easy time. He blanked the Wildcats number one boy, Mickey Ferrari, 6-0 and 6-0

Win in Doubles

Later Kurey teamed with George Selelyo to win over Joe Hughes and Ferrari, 6-0 and 6-1.

Ron D'Angelo and Dennis D'Alessio also won their singles encounters, then teamed to take a doubles match as well.

D'Angelo was pressed by Hughes, 6-1, 3-6 and 7-5. D'Alessio handled Sam Marra, 7-5 and 6-2.

In doubles play, D'Alessio and D'Angelo whipped James Ellis and Sam Maley, 6-4 and 6-1.

Girls Rained Out

The feminine addition to the Monessen tennis team was rained out. The Katsuleris sisters, Mary and Elizabeth, were on hand to challenge a Monongahela duo.

Mary is regarded as probably the best feminine tennis player in the WPIAL today.

On Monday the Greyhounds will play host to Charleroi in the home opener.

Drake Relays To Open Today

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—Almost 800 of the nation's top track stars, sparked by Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow, opened a two-day assault today on the Drake Relays record book.

The threat of rain could, however put a damper on the record drive.

About a dozen Drake records were in danger at the 48th annual event, which drew a star-studded field of 786 from 77 colleges and universities.

Seven finals were scheduled for the opening day and new marks were distinct possibilities in four of them.

Pressure Against Increase in Fee For Fish License

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Fisheries Committee said today "terrific pressure" was being exerted to kill legislation to increase fishing licenses from $2.50 to $4.

Rep. Clarence G. Stoner (R-Cumberland) said he received countless letters and telegrams to keep the increase bottled up in his committee. Stoner said he received a petition of 3,400 names alone from Lycoming County.

"Right now most of the House is against the increase," he said. "If we were to report the bill to the floor, I doubt if it could muster 50 votes."

Stoner said the committee discussed the bill at length without reaching a decision. He said the committee sentiment was that trout fishermen would receive the most benefit from the legislation while all fishermen would have to pay the increase.

"At the present it appears a trout stamp plan might be the answer because very little work or stocking is done on lakes," Stoner said, citing an example.

Stoner said most organized sportsmens' groups supported the increase, "apparently without adequately polling their membership." He said he had received numerous letters from members of sportsmens' organizations voicing objections to the legislation.

The bipartisan legislation would make resident and non-resident licenses $4 with $1.75 going into the state Fish Fund for the purchase of land and fishing waters, rebuilding of dams and the study of problems related to fishing.

It was introduced by Reps. Robert H. Broen Jr. (R-Centre), Reginald P. Stimmel (R-Lehigh) and Benjamin J. Krakow (D-Philadelphia).

Four-Way Tie In Women's Golf

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—A par-busting quartet of two veteran pros and a pair of newcomers to the play-for-pay ranks were bunched at the top today going into the second round of the Women's Western Open golf tournament.

Louise Suggs, the veteran of Sea Island, Ga., came in with a two-under-par 71 Thursday but before she hardly had her clubs stored for the day three other pros barged in for a four-way deadlock in the $5,000 event.

They were Betty Dodd of Louisville, Ky., and rookies Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif.

Three others were one stroke back in the 28th staging of the tournament. Patty Berg of Chicago, Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C.

Sisler Back as Buc Batting Instructor

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The tutor was back at his customary station at Forbes Field today with a curriculum designed to stop the Pittsburgh Pirates from flunking their batting tests.

George Sisler returned to action as batting instructor for the first time since last year. He was hospitalized shortly before the Pirates left for spring training.

"We have been giving special hitting instructions to each batter," said the Hall of Famer who was a .400 hitter with the St. Louis Browns in the early 1920's.

"Each boy has particular problems. You cannot lay down a single rule for all players.

Players in Slump

"Right now, the players have been in a slump, but I think it can be corrected. It has been my experience that slumps are caused by over-anxiety. This in turn will create a mental condition that prompts players to do peculiar things at the plate."

Sisler said while timing was important in batting, he was urging batters to use judgment and intelligence.

Sisler pupils are given "homework." They are urged to study opposing pitchers.

Four Game Losing Streak

The Pirates returned home from a disastrous eastern trip in which they lost six out of seven games. They went down to defeat in their last four games and are in the National League cellar with a 2-6 showing.

The Brooklyn Dodgers come to Forbes Field tonight in the first of a three game series. Before the 16-game home stand is over, the Pirates will have been hosts to five other teams.

Sisler is the gentle, persuading member of the Pirate faculty, in contrast to manager Bobby Bragan, the disciplinarian.

Bragan had ordered Pirate trainer Charles Jorgenson to keep a jar in the clubhouse for fines. Thus far the amount totals $50.

Skinner Paid Most

Bragan fined Bob Skinner $20 for failing to slide into second. Luis Arroyo was an unwilling contributor with $10 for failing to follow a "pitch out" order.

Catcher Danny Kravitz paid $10 for getting a single. He had been ordered to "take" a pitch in Brooklyn. Pitcher Nelson King is $5 poorer because he was late in reporting for a game.

Jorgenson was ordered to pay a $5 fine in New York when Bragan discovered the "money jar" was left in Pittsburgh.

Bob Purkey, who beat the Dodgers Sunday at Ebbets Field, will go against Johnny Podres tonight. The Dodger southpaw shut out the Pirates 2-0 on six hits last Saturday.

Casper Sets Pace In Rich Tourney At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Whatever Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., has, the rest of the international field in the $30,000 Kentucky Derby Open wanted their share today.

Casper, an ex-gob, led the trimmed-down field of 89 pros and 10 amateurs into the third round of the tournament with a one-stroke lead, after fashioning a second straight 68 Thursday that gave him a 36-hole total of 136.

Nipping at his heels were Jack Fleck, former U.S. Open champion from Rochester, Mich., and Peter Thomson, a cool Aussie, both deadlocked at 137 and quiet Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., at 138.

Walker Inman Jr., of Bolton, Mass., the first-round leader, was in fifth place after slipping to a one-over-par 72 Thursday, giving him a 139 total, while Howie Johnson, of Houston, Tex., carded a fine 68 for a 140 total and sixth place.

A little bit of what Johnny Pott, 21-year-old pro from Shreveport, La., had Thursday wouldn't cause anybody to complain either. Pott carded an ace on the 229-yard fifth hole to help him to a 69, a 142 total and a seventh place tie with four others.

Chisox Retain Option on Pitcher

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago White Sox have an option to purchase before Sept. 20 the contract of pitcher Al Spearman from Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League. Spearman, 22, had an 18-3 record with Stockton in the California State League last season.

Lopez Has His Chicago White Sox Atop American League Standings

By UNITED PRESS

Casey Stengel says Al Lopez is "too good a manager to keep finishing second all the time," and judging from their jack-rabbit getaway, the Chicago White Sox are bent on proving Ole Case a prophet.

Off to his best start in his last five years as a manager, Lopez has the White Sox in first place with five victories in six games.

"I said I felt we could win this year before the season began and it still goes," the White Sox declared following Thursday's 9-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Fox The Leader

Leading the way for the White Sox at the moment is little Nellie Fox, with his customary wad of chewing tobacco and a fancy .423 batting average. Fox was a key contributor in Thursday's triumph over the Tigers with a pair of doubles and a single. Southpaw Jack Harshman was credited with his second victory although ancient Dixie Howell took over for him in the seventh. Steve Gromek was the loser.

The Indians, who started poorly this year, defeated the Athletics, 5-3, even though they were held to six hits. They broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh with a three-run rally that was highlighted by Vic Wertz' two-run double off loser Wally Burnette. Early Wynn was the winner but he gave way to Ray Narleski after yielding a two-run homer to Gus Zernial in the eighth.

Ted Williams continued his torrid hitting for the Red Sox with a double and two singles in a 12-7 decision over the Senators. Williams' three hits boosted his average to .455, best in the American League. George Susce Jr., yielded three hits over the last 5 2-3 innings to gain the victory after relieving starter Willard Nixon. Clint Courtney hit a two-run homer off Nixon in the fourth.

The Yankees and Orioles were not scheduled.

Cincinnati, which opened the campaign with four straight defeats, won its fourth in a row by beating Chicago, 6-3.

Lawrence Goes Distance

Brooks Lawrence, a 19-game winner last year, gave up nine hits but became the first Cincinnati pitcher to go the distance this year.

The Redlegs made only six hits but capitalized on four Cub errors, two of them by shortstop Ernie Banks. Errors by Banks and second baseman Casey Wise gave the Redlegs their first run in the opening inning and they added three more in the second off rookie Dick Drott with the help of a single by George Crowe and doubles by Ed Bailey and Don Hoak.

The only other National League game scheduled was the one between the Giants and Dodgers but it was postponed because of rain.

Detroit Officials Deny Dissension

DETROIT (UP) — Denials were trotted out faster than Detroit Tiger relief pitchers Thursday when reports appeared that all was not well between General Manager Spike Briggs and President Harvey Hansen.

Briggs denied it, Hansen denied it and so did John E. Fetzer, chairman of the board.

"It was a lousy article and not true," Briggs said of a story that broke in a Detroit newspaper.

But last Saturday, the day after Hansen was elected president to succeed Fred Knorr, Briggs told manager Jack Tighe that he had been ordered to stay out of the clubhouse and out of the dugout.

"I'm not going to do it," he told Tighe.

Briggs was reported to have said in the Detroit story that the new owners expected to run the club "like a factory" but that he would quit first before allowing that.

Doping Charges At Race Track

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UP)—The booming California horse racing industry was rocked today with doping charges and the State Racing Commission awaited a Bay Meadows report on the case of trainer Reggie Cornell, one of the nation's top conditioners.

Cornell was suspended by the Bay Meadows stewards Thursday for allegedly stimulating a horse named Drifting Abbey in the first race last Tuesday—a race the filly won by five lengths.

"I don't deny that the horse obviously was stimulated," said Cornell, a 35-year-old horseman who has a public stable of 70 thoroughbreds. "But I didn't do it. I tell you I didn't do it—and I didn't give instructions for anyone else to do it. I can't account for it at all."

Today's Sports Parade —

Musial, Williams Top Batting Races Again

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — It looked like old times today with Ted Williams and Stan Musial leading the baseball hit parade and it made each of them certain that the end of the trail still wasn't in sight.

"I guess I should have at least another year," Musial commented as he paced the National League with a .536 average while Williams, batting an even .400, added: "This is over the standard I set for myself if I'm going to stay in baseball."

The way they're going, both may be around for some time to come.

Unusually Good Starts

Each is off to an unusually good start and, barring injuries or mishaps, figures to be a threat all the way for the batting titles. Stan, who hit "only" 310 last season, won the last of his six crowns in 1952 and Williams, second with .345 to Mickey Mantle's .353 last season, won the last of his four titles in 1948.

One of Stan's targets this year is Gus Suhr's National League record of playing in 822 consecutive games. Stan was only 48 games short as the season started and has played in all seven Cardinal contests despite a pulled back muscle suffered on opening day.

Another of his aims is to join the select circle of those who have rapped out 3,000 hits. Starting the season, Stan, who is 36, needed 219 more base blows and that, undoubtedly, is going to be one which will have to wait until next season.

Real Good Year

Williams is unusually optimistic about his own chances, too.

"If something doesn't happen to me physically," he says, "I hope to have a real good year, which means hitting over .330 and getting about 25 home runs. But, I'll tell you one thing, nobody is going to be hitting .400."

Tall Ted was the last man to perform that feat, and he did that despite a bad year in his .406 season of 1941. That spring he missed training because of an ankle injury.

"There's too much night baseball and this ruins your eating and sleeping habits and is bound to hurt you," Ted explains.

Williams, at 38, doesn't expect to play in much more than 100 games this year. Yet, from the way he and Musial have started, that may be enough to put both of these old gaffers right back at the top.

Many Are Dissatisfied With TV in Soviet

By COLETTE BLACKMOORE

MOSCOW (UP)—Many of the estimated 10 million persons who watch Soviet television are dissatisfied with the present daily dose of programs.

This is evident from the hundreds of critical letters which they drop into the complaint box of every television center in the country. It is also clear from the Soviet press, which last year demanded continuously that something be done to improve the selection and content of the programs.

The next four years may witness a revolution in Soviet TV, its transformation from a small-scale past time into a powerful instrument of entertainment and education.

The infant TV industry, which had to take a back seat to radio and the movies, has caught the eye of influential Soviet officials and is bidding for talent and money with which to expand.

There are today about a million sets and 10 times that many viewers. TV is watched by black-whiskered Georgians, industrial workers from Omsk and Tomsk, lonely fishermen in Vladivostok.

On a typical evening, starting at 7 o'clock, they see a half-hour program for children — "Russian Folk Tales," "Leo Tolstoy and Children," "The Story of an Electric Power Station," or perhaps a cartoon. Then comes half an hour of news and documentaries on art, travel and various current events.

At 8 or 9 the feature of the evening will bring a movie. Soviet movies can be shown on TV (10 days after release) or a play currently running in a Moscow theater. Occasionally there are broadcasts by visiting foreign artists or sports events like the world hockey championships.

Treating Cancer By Using Sound

CHICAGO (UP)—A University of Illinois professor of electrical engineering today discussed the possibility of using sound to treat cancer.

The professor, William J Fry, has found a way to pinpoint beams of high frequency sound so they destroy animal brain tissue. He claims the sound can be focused so accurately that it kills nerve tissue but does not touch neighboring vessels.

Storms Ripping Nebraska

By UNITED PRESS

New storm warnings were out for the Southwest today in a flurry of violent weather that sent twisters ripping through communities in Oklahoma and Nebraska, flooding rains in Texas and dust storms in Colorado and Kansas.

Hardest hit was the little community of Milford, Neb., west of Lincoln, where a tornado Thursday night destroyed at least 75 homes, damaged some 25 more, injured some 50 persons and left 150-200 persons homeless.

Another twister slammed into Holdenville, Okla., Thursday night, causing considerable damage to the business and residential sections.

Michigan Also Hit

Other tornadoes were reported Thursday from such distant points as Texas and Michigan, where a small tornado caused some damage in a town near Detroit.

Weathermen said more turbulent weather, including severe thunderstorms and possible tornadoes, could be expected early today in sections of five southwestern states. Specifically covered by the warning were southwest Missouri, eastern Oklahoma, northwestern Arkansas, southwestern Arkansas and northeastern Texas.

No deaths were reported in any of Thursday night's swarm of tornadoes. Authorities at Milford credited ample warning of the approaching twister for preventing any fatalities there.

Siren Warns Residents

The town's fire siren alerted the town's 1,200 residents shortly before the funnel cloud slammed into the business district and then tore a destructive path through the residential section.

Mayor George Phipps of Milford estimated damage could reach as much as $1,500,000. Of the injured, only 16 required hospitalization and none of them was believed critically hurt.

The tornado was the first spotted on a radar screen at the Lincoln Air Force Base. The radar tracked the twister as it left Milford and headed towards Lincoln. However, it disappeared before hitting Lincoln. Five other tornadoes swirled over Omaha, to the northeast, but none touched ground.

Two Bodies for The Same Man, Puzzles Sheriff

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla. (UP) — Authorities here were confronted today with two bodies for the same man.

They buried a drowning victim they thought was Clarence Robert White of Chattahoochee three weeks ago after the victim's relatives identified him. But Thursday Sheriff W. C. Reeder of Calhoun County announced that a body bearing White's identification cards had been fished out of the Chattahoochee River near Wewahitchka.

Attempts will be made today to make positive identification of the second body. Meanwhile, sheriff's officials said they will take steps to have the first body exhumed.

White fell off a barge in the Apalachicola River near Chattahoochee some four weeks ago. After a widespread search, a body was discovered in the river, identified as White and buried after funeral services in a Chattahoochee cemetery.

Democrats for Abolishing Old State Department

HARRISBURG (UP) — Three Democratic lawmakers seek to abolish the state Department of Internal Affairs, a post now held by a member of their party.

However, since the proposal would require an amendment to the state Constitution, it could not become effective for almost three years. The term of the current officeholder, Genevieve Blatt, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, has slightly more than two years to run.

The bill was co-sponsored by Sens. John C. Miller (Beaver); Jo Hays (Centre) and Miles R. Derk (Lycoming).

Miller said he proposed it as an "economy measure to save the taxpayers money."

He said that some of the functions of the department could be eliminated and others taken over by the Mines and Commerce departments.

Here's How to Find Fountain of Youth

WASHINGTON (UP) — Want to stay looking fresh as a daisy while all your friends are going to pot?

Some day it may be easy: just spend your summer vacations buzzing around outer space at 186,000 miles a second.

Physicist Harold W. Lewis of the University of Wisconsin said Thursday night that theoretically a man barrelling through space at almost the speed of light would compress into one year a normal eight years back here on earth.

Lewis said when the traveler returned he would find he was seven years younger than his twin brother who had been plodding at home.

"He will have found a modern day fountain of youth," he said.

Lewis told the American Physical Society in a scientific paper that the "fountain of youth" theory is based on demonstrations that the aging process is slowed down in radioactive particles moving at high speeds.

"I have no doubt that the same thing would apply to biological processes," he said.

For example, Lewis said, it would take a man traveling at about the speed of light — 186,000 miles a second — eight years of earth time to buzz from say Bangor, Maine, to the nearest star and back.

If the traveler and his twin were 30 when the traveler left, the twin brother would be 38 when the traveler returned.

But Lewis said the traveler would have aged only one year: he would be only 31.

Not that the traveler while out among the asteroids would feel any different or realize that his twin brother back in Bangor was aging faster than he was.

Scientists Study the Effects of Space Flying on the Modern Man

By WILLIAM TERRY

NORTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—Sealed in a rocket-powered missile soaring in darkness so high the earth will look like a big moon below, tomorrow's pilot could suffer a space change affecting his entire personality.

Along with this he could experience a jab of terror that could unhinge his mind.

These are possibilities scientists and doctors are studying at Norton — nerve center of the Air Force's flying safety program. Dr. Archie F. Zeller, chief of the "human factors" branch, and his associates, are concerned with pilots and their machines and stresses that can break them both.

Pilot Feels Trapped

Whizzing along at 4,000 MPH and up, the pilot may feel trapped inside his pressurized capsule, surrounded only by the nervous jerk of the needles on his instrument panel. He fits into the cockpit like a finger in a tight glove, only able to move his head and hand to steer his course.

"Studies have been made of the men flying today's high speed jets," Dr. Zeller said. "Some find this experience exhilarating, a great peace, but some find it terrifying—they are filled with anxiety."

But what could bring about a "space change" in the pilot is a phenomenon called "disorientation." It is a loss of contact with one's surroundings and it can show up in a jet pilot as a sort of circuit breaker in his mind which causes him to make a mistake.

For example, while a jet pilot is landing, he may reach for the landing gear handle, but instead suddenly pull off the power. He acts as if an unseen force tricked him into it.

Psychological Effects

For the space flyer, disorientation may have basic psychological effects. Dr. Zeller says that a pilot may not be the same man after flying on the fringes and into space.

At great heights, he may have a feeling of complete detachment from the earth. Dr. Zeller says, and earthly values may become meaningless for some pilots. Other men may seem worth little when looked down upon from the high lonesomeness of space.

Could these feelings mean a permanent change in the pilot's personality?

Dr. Zeller admits they could if the pilot were subjected to space flights for long periods or many shorter periods.

"It is another facet in the selection of pilots for stability in space," Zeller says. "Some won't be able to stand it over a long period, so they must in the interests of safety be weeded out."

13 Overcome by Fumes from Missile

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UP) — Thirteen firefighters were overcome by the fumes from a secret missiles exhaust blast but the six who were admitted to a hospital were reported in satisfactory condition today.

Seven others were treated and released Thursday after the mishap at this secret guided missile center. All of the men were Pan American World Airways employes who serve as members of a standby fire crew during the launching operations.

The Parking Meter Comedy

The present Mayor's strange affection for parking meters was first shown back in 1947. At that time, out of the five meters inspected by him and Council, he alone favored the most expensive one. (The Rockwell Manufacturing Co., which was then still in Monessen, had also submitted one but it was rejected.)

Since the original meters were installed, we have seen them spread to the right of us and to the left of us like the plague.

Several weeks ago we saw another act in this comedy, Mayor Parente called an IMPORTANT special meeting. What for? It was decided to purchase new meters and install them in the business section, but this time they were 10c meters.

The main reason for parking meters is supposed to be to help regulate traffic and parking. Therefore, the revenue from them should be set aside and used for those purposes.

Here in Monessen, the parking meter money is just a hidden tax piled up on the Wage Tax and Real Estate taxes. As such it goes into the General Funds where it can be used to buy still more parking meters.

Rabies Victim Is Dead

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UP)—The wife and daughter of a rabies victim who died maddened and agonized are taking painful anti-rabies shots because they kissed him before he died, a county health officer said Thursday.

The victim, Clyde Pennington, 41, of Anaheim, Calif., probably lost his life because of his love for animals. He died in a rabid fit April 11 but it wasn't until Wednesday that authorities determined he was a rabies victim.

Dr. Edward L. Russell, county health officer, said Pennington's wife, Sally, and their daughter, Jeanette, 7, both are taking the Pasteur treatment for rabies because rabies can be passed by contact with the saliva of a victim and they may have picked up the germs when they kissed Pennington.

Five other persons who had contacts with Pennington also have begun the treatments as an extra precaution, Russell said.

Pennington was described as liking animals so much he befriended every dog he encountered.

Before his death he broke out of the hospital where he was being treated for his then-unidentified illness, smashing doors and windows, and battling attendants before they subdued him.

Revolution Taking Place in Protestant Sunday School

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — A revolution is taking place in "America's most cherished institution," the Protestant Sunday school.

Several major denominations have already scrapped their traditional Sunday school lessons in favor of an entirely new approach to religious education.

Others are in the process of making what Dr. A. L. Roberts, director of the Commission on General Christian Education, calls "rather radical revisions of curriculum materials and methods."

These sweeping changes reflect the conviction of many church leaders that the "old-fashioned Sunday school," with its emphasis on memorizing names, events and verses from the Bible, has been greatly over-rated as a builder of Christian character.

New Approach Personal

Children may learn to parrot a lot of facts about the Christian religion under the time-honored teaching system, critics say, but they often fail to see any relation between these facts and real life. As a result, millions of children quit going to Sunday school as soon as they are old enough to resist parental authority.

The new approach aims at giving each child a personal experience of the love, acceptance and forgiveness held forth by the Christian faith. It treats Christianity not as a series of doctrines to be memorized as a child and understood as an adult, but as a life to be lived—now.

Now this concept is translated into Sunday school teaching is illustrated by the "Seabury Series" of course materials recently adopted by the Episcopal Church.

The first-grade course is directed at helping a child form a "deep conviction that the church is his home;" that here he is accepted and valued as a person, whether he is good or bad, cooperative or contrary.

Tailored to "Needs"

The course for each succeeding grade in the Seabury Series is similarly tailored to meet the "real needs" of the child at each age level—to present him with those Christian doctrines and experiences which he is then best able to understand and apply to his own life.

Thus the strong sense of right and wrong characteristic of the nine-year-old is recognized in a fourth grade course that emphasizes the ethical teachings of the Christian gospel—along with the grace and forgiveness which are supposed to enable the child to live with these moral demands.

At the eighth-grade level, where young teen-agers are coming under heavy pressure toward non-Christian standards in their social lives, the Seabury Course stresses Christian courage. The embattled 13-year-old learns that the church recognizes how difficult it is to be good when "the rest of the gang" is straying, that his temptations are not regarded as childish or trifling, and that even when he slips, he can find in the services and sacraments of worship the strength to try again.

Sunday school materials similar to the Seabury Series are in use in the Northern Presbyterian churches, and are being introduced by the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches and several Lutheran bodies. Other denominations are moving in the same general direction with less-drastic revisions of their courses.

Leader Would Amend Law to Permit Debts

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has urged revisions to the state Constitution which would permit government debts to be financed by general obligation bonds.

Calling for an end to what he termed "the old, old game of self-deception," Leader said the state has "for many years" circumvented the constitutional limit of one million dollars on debts by resorting to the authority device of borrowing money.

Such authorities as the Delaware River Port Authority, the General State Authority, are established by the Legislature and are empowered to borrow money and issue bonds up to limits specified by the lawmakers.

This method, the governor told a meeting of the Constitution Committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, "will cost this generation and the next literally hundreds of millions of dollars in extra interest."

"For lack of a modern document," he said, "we have gone on from year to year, amending our Constitution piecemeal—aggravating rather than relieving the need for thorough revision."

State Leads in Programs for New Highway System

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today Pennsylvania leads all other states in the amount of highway projects programmed under the new federal insterstate system.

The governor, citing a report of the US. Bureau of Public Roads, pointed out that Pennsylvania work programmed covers 227.7 miles, calling for a total expenditure of $155,189,000 and a federal allocation of $108,173,000.

A project cannot be programmed for construction unless the state has completed design plans, held public hearings and has finances available to match the federal allocation.

"The March report of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads," the governor said, "definitely proves that Pennsylvania and its Department of Highways is well in the forefront of all the states in proceeding vigorously in taking advantage of the federal highway act. The figures released by the bureau are additional proof that the Commonwealth's highway program is in good hands."

Stockholders Wooing Big Business Today

NEW YORK (UP)—American businesses today spend a hundred million dollars a year wooing new stockholders and trying to keep old ones happy.

Some companies permit stockholders to buy their products at a discount. Others give away their products at annual meetings.

Continental Can once gave each stockholder a garbage can. Revlon gave cosmetics.

Almost all companies feed their stockholders at annual meetings. Many maintain fulltime staffs to greet visiting stockholders, take them on plant tours and buy them lunch.

Runs Special Cruises

The Grace Line runs special cruises to the Carribean. Stockholders pay the regular fare but get red carpet treatment and entertainment both on board and in port.

The New York Central Railroad runs special low-cost trains to Albany for its annual meeting, and this year the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad is going to conduct its annual meeting on a merchandise pier. Stockholders will then be taken on a boat tour of railroad installations along the bay and on a low-rate excursion to the Jamestown, Va., festival.

Allen Will Harris, a management consultant specializing in stockholder relations says "stockholder relations as a corporate activity has grown in importance and now ranks side-by-side with labor and community relations.

"Just 20 years ago many companies treated their stockholders like an unemployed brother-in-law who came for a week's visit and stayed a year."

The new approach to stockholder relations is mirrored in the brightly - colored, interestingly-written annual reports mailed out each year to stockholders and other interested persons.

There was a time when annual reports were the butts of jokes as the dullest, dreariest reading on record.

"But today," says Harris, "industry devotes a great deal of time and money to turning out annual reports that are readable and informative."

Harris estimates that industry now spends 35 million dollars a year on annual reports. The Aluminum Company of America says it begins planning an annual report a year in advance.

Some reports now contain cartoons and special glossaries defining difficult technical terms. The reports come in all shapes and sizes, but the aim is the same: Competition for the favor of stockholders.

Famed Showman Is Buried Yesterday

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Funeral services were held Thursday for Nils T. Granlund, famed N.T.G. of show business, who died last Sunday of injuries suffered in a Las Vegas, Nev., auto accident.

The 57-year-old impresario, who developed many stage and screen stars, was buried at the Hollywood Hills Forest Lawn cemetery.

House GOP Unruffled Over Leader's Plans to Fight for Scholarships

HARRISBURG (UP) — House Republican leaders today appeared unruffled over Gov. George M Leader's plans to carry his scholarship program to the state's grassroots level.

GOP Floor Leader Albert W. Johnson (McKean) said the governor was "trying to get his campaign for the U. S. Senate off the ground a little early."

"I think we should give some consideration to the elementary and secondary school systems and teachers' salaries before we get into financing higher education," Johnson said.

He conceded the issue would be a "popular one" but repeated his charges that the award of 5,000 competitive scholarships annually to high school seniors was "another step toward a welfare state."

House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (Armstrong) said he had not studied the governor's program closely but said it appeared "a move toward the socialistic sphere."

Both leaders indicated they would stand firm in opposition to any additional taxes regardless of the merits of the proposed program.

Leader, obviously irked by the cool reception given the program by the Legislature, said he would tour the state to enlist popular support for the program as soon as a schedule could be laid out.

Pop Tax Suggested

The scholarships would be financed by a one-cent per bottle soft drink tax expected to return $17,500,000 yearly. The "pop" funds also would be used to make loans to needy students and for establishment of junior colleges in areas where four year college facilities were not available.

The legislation has not been introduced in the Assembly but is expected next week. House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) said he had not conferred with Leader on the program but promised his delegation would give "every consideration" to the measure.

Helm also took more wind out of reports the GOP planned a "standby" recess on June 1 instead of a flat adjournment.

"The sentiment among Republican leaders in both chambers is for adjournment," he said. "We will have a definite party policy ready shortly."

Helm said Senate GOP Whip Albert R. Pechan (Armstrong) was the only Republican senator to speak up for a standby recess.

The Senate, in recess since Wednesday, returns Monday at 4 p.m. edt and the House 30 minutes later.

PUC Approves Extension of Gas Utility

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today authorized the Pennsylvania Gas Co. Warren, to extend its transmission line to additional areas in Erie County at a cost of about $700,000

The move will enable the utility to extend service to the boroughs of Girard, Platea, Cranesville and Albion, and those areas in Elk Creek and Conneaut Townships within convenient connecting distance.

Construction of the facilities will be financed by the issue of promissory notes, the company said. Currently no other utility provides natural or mixed gas service in the new area. The utility said the service will be extended under present rates. It serves 57,500 consumers in Elk, Erie, Forest, McKean and Warren counties.

Jakomas Denied Trial Postponement

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Mayor Andrew J. Jakomas of McKeesport has been denied an indefinite postponement of his trial on charges violating the third class city code.

Jakomas, accused of voting on an ordinance to settle tax liens on property he owned, had asked for a delay on grounds his campaign for reelection may be prejudiced by a trial, scheduled to begin next Monday. He also said his attorney was too busy with a backlog of cases.

Playground Milk

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department said today children on many playgrounds throughout the state may buy milk at special reduced prices this summer.

Ike Praised for Labor Stand

WASHINGTON (UP) — Both Democratic and GOP congressmen today praised President Eisenhowers call for legislation to curb labor racketeering.

Senate and House committees planned prompt hearings.

However, several congressmen called for broader legislation than the President proposed Thursday after meeting with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell at the vacation White House in Augusta, Ga.

The President said Congress should enact legislation to eliminate the "abomination of labor racketeering. He said union welfare and pension funds should be brought under control.

Daylight Savings Time Is Spreading to More States

By UNITED PRESS

Daylight time returns Sunday and more persons will be involved in the clock setting operation than ever before in peacetime.

And, a United Press survey showed today, you'll be more likely to get a straight answer to the question, "What time is it?"

Sixteen states, including three new ones, will have daylight time throughout. Twenty - four states will keep Standard time. Eight will have a mixture.

The District of Columbia also will be on daylight time.

(Monessen and district communities will begin daylight time at 2 a. m. Sunday. Clocks will be turned ahead one hour before going to bed Saturday.)

The time change begins at 2 a.m., Sunday, local time and runs till the last Sunday of September or October, depending on the area.

The three new daylight states are Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Wisconsin voters approved the time change in an April 2 referendum, ending a 40-year dispute. Cities fought for it to get an extra hour of evening sunshine "for better health, more recreation and better family life." Farm groups opposed it on grounds it would disrupt the farmer's schedule.

Confusing Zigzag Line

Indiana has been plagued by a patchwork of confusing clock schedules with a zigzag line running roughly down the center of the state dividing time zones. A new daylight time law has teeth. Officials of governmental units ignoring it can be fined and jailed.

Minnesota's Legislature approved daylight time 8-38 Tuesday.

But the Tennessee Legislature banned fast time. The law was aimed at Nashville, where many businesses went on "voluntary" Daylight time last summer. Now some firms are thinking of opening an hour earlier and quitting an hour earlier, and leaving the clocks alone.

In neighboring Kentucky the Legislature made Standard time official, but as in the past some towns will go on fast time "voluntarily."

Pennsylvania Mixed Up

Northeastern and parts of eastern Ohio will go on daylight time Sunday and Columbus votes May 7 on whether to go along with the other towns. If Columbus approves fast time, other Ohio towns will follow. Pennsylvania is another mixed time state with smaller communities sticking to Standard time while the bigger cities move the clocks ahead.

But in Nevada the time change will put the state in conformity. The state with the exception of Lincoln County goes daylight. Lincoln County is in the Mountain Time Zone and will stay on Standard, which is the same as Pacific Daylight.

Fast time is politically hot in many areas. California's Legislature has a bill to repeal it and a measure to impose it was killed recently by the Colorado Legislature. Missouri's legislature has before it a bill that would outlaw Daylight time unless the entire state goes for it.

A bill that would outlaw fast time in Nebraska has been opposed by lawmakers from the Mountain time areas and by a representative of an agricultural district who said, "You can't teach Daylight time to the cows and chickens."

But in Illinois, State Sen. C.E. Sprinkle said, "I'm a farmer and personally I like Standard time, but I tire of all this confusion."

Coeds Indifferent

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—The Yul Brynner "haircut" fad is on the wane—at the University of Richmond, anyway. Nick Pozinko, a member of the university's "Yul Brynner Club," said the club had disbanded because coeds were neither attracted nor repelled by the clubmembers shaved heads.

Report Record Sales By Bethlehem Steel

NEW YORK (UP)—The chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp. said Thursday his firm logged record sales in the first quarter of this year.

Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, said the firm increased net income nearly 19 per cent above that of a year earlier. He said he was confident Bethlehem would continue to operate at near capacity for the rest of 1957.

A meeting of Bethlehem's directors Thursday declared a 60-cent dividend. This was the same amount paid in March following a 4-for-1 stock split in January.

First quarter income totaled $53,427,655 or $1.24 a share, the Bethlehem director announced. In the initial three months of 1956 the company's net income was $44,963,787 or $1.04 a share on stock presently outstanding. In the fourth quarter net income totaled $61,721,468 or $1.44 a share.

Bethlehem had sales of $676,-107,988 in the first quarter. A year ago the corporation sold $599,556,-156 worth of products. Fourth quarter sales came to $667,184,493.

Bethlehem earmarked 52 million dollars for taxes in the quarter ended March 31, compared with $44,300,000 in the corresponding 1956 quarter.

The corporation's steel-making furnaces operated at 103.8 per cent of rated capacity in the first quarter and produced 5,248,257 tons of steel ingots. The comparable figures a year ago were 101.7 per cent of then rated capacity and 5,070,078 tons of steel.

Current steel production is approximately 102 per cent of capacity.

The common dividend declared Thursday is payable June 1 to holders of record on May 8.

Probers Meeting In Secret

NEW YORK (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee plans to question several witnesses in a secret session today, probably including officers of the International Operating Engineers controversial Long Island Local 138.

Committee counsel Robert Kennedy said the hearing at the Federal Courthouse in Foley Square would involve some witnesses from Local 138 and witnesses from a New York City union who refused to turn over documents to the committee staff. It was not known whether the witness would turn over the documents under subpena.

No Advance Notice

None of the witnesses was identified in advance but it was believed that one would be William C. De Koning Jr., president of the local. Another possible witness was De Koning's father, William C. De Koning Sr., former head of the union and one-time Long Island construction czar who was jailed in 1954 for extorting money from contractors.

The committee scheduled the hearings for New York because Committee Chairman Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) was in town to address the American Newspaper Publishers Association convention and to save the expense of bringing the witnesses to Washington.

Kennedy said the hearings today would have no relation to scheduled public hearings on New York "paper locals" which the Teamsters Union allegedly set up to swing a union election.

Kennedy also said a delay in the trial of Johnny Dio (John Dioguardi) announced Thursday would probably affect presentation of the "paper locals" hearings. The announcement that Dio's trial for conspiracy in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel will be delayed until May 20 means that Dio's participation in the hearings will have to be put off because Dio cannot be expected to testify before the Rackets Committee at the same time, Kennedy said.

Under Committee Subpena

Dio had been under subpena to appear before the committee April 30 in Washington.

McClellan told the American Newspaper Publishers' Association Thursday night that if labor racketeering were permitted to continue unchecked the nation could be heading toward a "gangsterism economy." He told the annual dinner of the ANPA's Bureau of Advertising that "racketeering is a threat to liberty" and has no place in "civilized society."

ICC Plans Crackdown On Trucking Industry

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission, reporting on a runaway truck accident at Ridgway, Pa., said Thursday it is going to crack down on the trucking industry to obtain stricter compliance with its highway safety regulations.

The commission issued a report by Commissioner Lawrence K. Walrath charging the industry with "gross failure" to assume its "responsibility" for highway safety.

The report was the outgrowth of a Dec. 15, 1956, accident at Ridgway in which the driver was killed and a Ridgway mansion was destroyed by fire.

The investigation, the commission said, showed the tractor-semi trailer was driven by an unqualified driver and was overloaded. The cargo in the trailer also was not secured by chains or other devices, it added.

The commission also noted there was no evidence of a mechanical equipment failure.

The ICC said the driver, Clifford D. Woodworth of Pierpont, Ohio, an employe of Trans American Freight Lines, Inc., of Detroit, was not experienced in handling the type of heavy equipment involved. Furthermore, his driver's license had been suspended for drunken driving and the suspension still was in effect at the time of the accident, the commission said

The ICC report stated:

"This accident brings forcefully to our attention the gross failure of management to assume its responsibility for such safety of operations.

"Use of an unqualified driver, dispatching an overloaded vehicle, failure to provide proper securing of a heavy load, and routing of such a combination over roads known to have long, steep grades will inevitably result in many accidents such as the one under study."

Soviet Circles Accuse Dulles Of War Talk

MOSCOW (UP)—Leading Soviet circles today accused U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of following "the road of adventure and war.

The charge was included in a long denunciation of Dulles recent speech to American newspaper editors. The official Soviet News Agency Tass distributed the statement, one of the most violent Soviet attacks against a U.S. secretary of state since Josef Stalin died.

The commentary dropped the recent Soviet line that nuclear war might bring universal extinction. It asserted that the forces of Communism would win and capitalism would go under if war should come.

"There are two roads in foreign policy, the road of realism and peace and the road of adventure and war, the statement said. "Mr. Dulles evidently keeps to the second road.

It called the Dulles address "incendiary speech of a "frankly aggressive character.

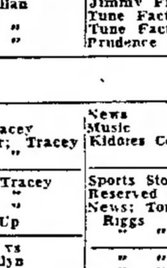
New Interview Show Goes on Network TV

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Mike Wallace, who has wowed this town during the past six months with a local interview show, shuttles into the network arena this Sunday.



William Ewald

ABC-TV will launch "Mike Wallace Interviews," a 30-minute opus, with Gloria Swanson the initial subject of Mike's buckshots. Subsequent shows will feature Orson Welles, Harry Belafonte, Gypsy Rose Lee, Mickey Cohen and Eldon Edwards, the imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

Wallace's interview program differs from other TV talk shows in its approach—Mike does not pussyfoot.

"What we do is to go after certain kinds of things that have been taboo prior to this on TV," said Mike today. "We've talked to women about sexual mores, to Negroes about miscegenation.

"We've asked a former head of the Communist Party about his motives, we've talked motives with sports figures and politics with writers and actresses.

"In a sense, what we have done is to ask people to justify themselves. We don't want the biography, the hard news story. What we're looking for is attitudes, the drives behind people."

Wallace, who has shepherded his interview show over the local Dumont channel here since Oct. 9, 1956, frequently has touched on skittery areas. A famous milliner was asked about homosexualism in his field, Elsa Maxwell was questioned on her own sex life and that of the so-called international set. Peter Freuchen, the quiz winner, delivered a dissertation on Eskimo sex life.

The Unhappy Thing

"The unhappy thing, of course, is the emphasis some people have placed on this kind of interview," observed Mike. "They charge us with sensationalism for sensationalism's sake.

"But we're not looking under any rocks. Our questions are penetrating questions, but they're fair—I don't think there is anyone who has gone into an interview with me who hasn't come out better than he went in."

UP Newsman, Russell Jones, Award Winner

NEW YORK (UP) — United Press Correspondent Russell Jones was named today to receive the George Polk Memorial Award of the Overseas Press Club for the "best reporting requiring exceptional courage and enterprise abroad."

Jones covered the revolution in Hungary from its beginning and was the only American correspondent to remain in Budapest for the month during which the Russians moved in and put down the revolt.

The club's citation of excellence for the best newspaper commentary went to United Press Foreign News Analyst Charles M. McCann, a veteran of 40 years with the wire service.

McCann was runner-up to American Broadcasting Company Commentator Cecil Brown for "best press, radio or television interpretation of foreign affairs within the United States." Other citations in the interpretive field were made to Thomas J. Hamilton of the New York Times and William L. Ryan of the Associated Press.

The awards will be presented at a dinner here May 6. The Polk award to Jones includes $500, an Overseas Press Club plaque and a portable typewriter.

Parental Authority Has Its Two Sides

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

This business of parental authority has two sides.

You parents view it as sort of a protective shield to safeguard your child during his growing up period. The youngster, on the other hand, quite often regards this authority as a barrier to his desired independence.

Whether he adjusts to this authority depends as much upon the parents as it does upon the youngster. And adjust he must, for his future acceptance or defiance of authority is based to a great degree on his childhood training.

Very often parents complain to their doctor that some emotional or mental handicap is blocking their child's progress by causing open conflict between the youngster and his mother and dad.

In some cases, of course, this is true. But in many others the fault lies with the parents, not the child.

How about checking your own attitude by answering these simple questions?

1 — Are you asserting authority over your children to satisfy your own need of a sense of power or importance?

2 — Are you influenced by the opinions of neighbors or friends on how children should be raised?

3 — Do you assert your authority chiefly for your own comfort and convenience?

4 — Do you do it simply as a matter of habit without giving it much thought?

The answers to these questions may help you understand yourself. If you realize that your attitude is an unfair one, you may find that changing it will get better results all around.

If you can solve disputes with your children before anyone is really harmed, you are doing a good job in helping them through a difficult period.

At least 90 per cent of the schools in the United States provide rhythm training in kindergarten and primary grades.

Major Crimes on Rise

WASHINGTON (UP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today that more major crimes were committed in the United States last year than ever before.

For the first time, he said, the nation's crime total topped the 2,500,000 mark. It reached 2,563,150, 13 per cent greater than the 1955 total.

Hoover said the crime increase could not be principally attributed to the growth in the nation's population. He noted that since 1950 the crime rate has risen almost four times as fast as the population rate.

He said that a major crime was committed every 12.3 seconds last year. Every 4.1 minutes there was an act of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill.

The report said major crimes committed by teen-agers--youths under 18--continued to increase and accounted for 46 per cent of the major crime arrests in cities.

Juveniles were blamed for 66 per cent of the nation's auto thefts.

Juvenile crime was up 17.3 per cent in urban areas but increased only three per cent in the nation as a whole.

Hoover's figures were compiled by the FB on the basis of police statistics. The FBI said more than 98 per cent of the people living in urban areas and 93 per cent of the nation's rural residents are covered in the so-called "uniform crime reports."

Goddard Supports Kinzua Reservoir

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, voiced support Thursday of the proposed $101-million dollar Kinzua Dam and Allegheny River Reservoir.

He told the Pennsylvania Clean Streams Conference the Warren County dam is necessary to even the flow of the Allegheny River.

Goddard also said Pennsylvania is getting an "insignificant amount of federal funds for big dams. He said that in 1956 only six tenths of one per cent of the funds expended by the Corps of Engineers were spent in Pennsylvania.
